---	---------	-----------------

There are laws, rules and regulations which underline the responsibility for those who purchase services or goods that they through Security Clearance shall assure the reliability of the contractor.

The Security Clearance must demonstrate:

- That personal knowledge is based on information given in reports, certificates and the like as well as references.
- That information given during the job interview, for instance about family situation, education, previous work, financial situation, side occupations, contacts, interests, drugs, prosecutions and verdicts as well as personal characteristics form the base for the personal knowledge.

The informant hereby certifies that the above individual has undergone security clearance and is found loyal and trustworthy, and that regular follow-up is performed by the human resources manager concerned. In the event of any observation that may indicate reduced suitability in view of protective security, this shall be reported to the Security Manager at OKG. Check of public records may be performed in view of the security perspective, which is also a regulatory requirement. The entity responsible for conducting a security clearance interview/background check shall certify that this has been performed in accordance with 2022-10058 – Requirements Specification – Security Clearance Interview – Contracted Personnel.
