WHAT THE AUTHOR SAYS	HOW I FEEL
“First, I got overwhelmed with all the choices, and then I got worried. I worried about a whole bunch of things. Would I be able to get the help I needed to succeed? How would I know what the best career path was for me?”	I get overwhelmed by . . . _____            _____            _____            _____ I worry about . . . _____            _____            _____            _____
“All I knew when I was an early teen was that I wanted a really cool job one day. I knew I didn’t want to be ordinary; I knew I didn’t want to be bored; and I knew I didn’t want to be boring.”	All I know is . . . _____            _____            _____            _____ I know I don’t want . . . _____            _____            _____            _____
“It was scary, sometimes, thinking about doing things that no one around me was doing or had done. But I just knew, deep down, that my journey and experience should—and could—be different.”	It’s scary to think about . . . _____            _____            _____            _____ My journey and experience should be . . . _____            _____            _____            _____
