

THMA Spring 2026 Oncology Forum

May 6–8, 2026

Pier Sixty-Six, Ft. Lauderdale, FL

THMA Oncology Forum

The Oncology Service Line Forum brings together system-level oncology service line executives (physician and administrative leaders) from Leading Health Systems nationwide and thought leaders from the most innovative healthcare companies for intimate, retreat-style meetings held twice a year. Operating on shared and experiential learning principles, best practice sharing, and group problem-solving, the Oncology Service Line Forum addresses key topics such as effective staffing models to meet patient demand, systematic care coordination strategies, and integrating value-based care in cancer services. Participants can expect to gain actionable insights and foster meaningful relationships that drive transformative change.

The Value of THMA Industry Convening

Bringing health systems and industry companies together to drive change through retreat-style forums is what we've specialized in for the past 25 years.

Join us this Spring and build genuine relationships through intimate discussions, collaborative problem-solving and thought leadership exchange.

“The key component to this group is relationships. There is something about it that feels like a family reunion of getting back together every year.”
