THMA Chief Physician Executive Circle

The Chief Physician Executive (CPE) Circle brings together system-level physician executives from independent health systems nationwide and thought leaders from the most innovative healthcare companies for intimate, retreat-style meetings held twice a year.

Operating on shared and experiential learning principles, best practice sharing, and group problemsolving, the CPE Circle addresses challenges including the evolving clinical workforce, physician engagement and leadership development strategies, emerging technologies, and the complex regulatory and compliance landscape. Participants can expect to gain actionable insights and foster meaningful relationships that drive transformative change. THMA's CPE Circle events are also accredited for continuing education.

Bringing health systems and industry companies together to drive change through retreat-style forums is what we've specialized in for the past 25 years.

Join us this Spring and build genuine relationships through intimate discussions, collaborative problem-solving and thought leadership exchange.
