

Reporting sexual misconduct

If you have experienced sexual assault, harassment or misconduct, it is your choice whether to report the incident.

Your options around campus:

USU

You may wish to notify USU if the incident happened at a USU Club event or with a USU member or guest.

USU can support you to report the incident, refer you for support and may take further action to keep you and your club safe.

You can contact a trusted USU staff member or contact Bec, the Wellness Coordinator, directly via:

d.programs@usu.edu.au

Campus Protective Services

Campus Protective Services are available 24/7 to assist with an emergency or safety threat on campus.

They can also arrange transport to RPA Hospital and are all trained in First Aid.

USYD Safer Communities Office

You may wish to consult Safer Communities Office – they are a team of specialist staff who can provide trauma informed case management and support to people impacted by recent and historical sexual assault and harassment.

Safer Communities Office can arrange confidential counselling through their partnership with the RPA Hospital Sexual Assault Counselling Service. Contact them to make an appointment during business hours.
