

USU Board Response to the Escalation of issues in the Middle East

The USU is saddened to hear about the reports coming out of the Middle East and we recognise that the situation will adversely impact many of our members. We are committed to fostering a safe, respectful, and welcoming campus for all our members and encourage anyone who is impacted to reach out to University counselling and mental health support.

We stand firm in our commitment to anti-discrimination and prevention of any behaviour that breaches the University's student charter. For any Clubs and Societies with members who have been impacted and wish to seek support through the USU's counselling service provider, or require support in running events, please get in touch by emailing D.Programs@usu.edu.au

The University also has a range of support services available to students who require them, which can be found here: <https://www.sydney.edu.au/students/health-wellbeing.html> (no waiting list).
