Everyone

Thanks for this. Our Government and Society Team have had a look and generally we are content with the schemes. We do have one or two points we would like to make and if possible, Sue Markey and Liam Duncan from our team would like to come and meet with you and discuss them.

Best regards,

All,

The two documents John mentions below are attached, ie the general IPSA proposed publication scheme, and the latest version of the more specific publication of claims paper.

As John mentions below, although we welcome comment on both, the second of these is perhaps where comments would be most helpful.

Thanks

Stephen,

We spoke. Grateful for your offer to help and to move quickly on this.

[REDACTED], could you let Stephen and Sue have the latest version of our two publication schemes on Tuesday please – the overall IPSA one for context and the claims publication scheme which is the one where we particularly welcome the ICO's thoughts and advice.

John

Happy to talk these issues over with you. My contact details are below and I have left a message on your answering service.

My colleague, Sue Markey, and I would be happy to provide any advice and assistance. Sue would have expertise in publication schemes and I have a background in data protection. Between us we have also both had some input into issues around expenses in the past.

Best regards,

Stephen McCartney Head of Data Protection Promotion

Dear Stephen,

I'm the policy director at IPSA. Andrew McDonald, the chief executive here, and I met Chris Graham last week to discuss how we could work together in developing IPSA's general publication scheme, but more significantly, our scheme for publishing the expenses claims made by MPs in the new Parliament. We are quite well developed in our thinking, but are very keen to share the draft scheme with you and get your thoughts.

Grateful if we could have a word tomorrow – I'm on 020 [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] on the blackberry

Look forward to speaking to you.

John Sills
