WILDLIFE AND HISTORY

Embark on incredible explorations of rich cultures and architectural marvels

THE GALÁPAGOS ISLANDS

The Galápagos Islands are an archipelago of volcanic islands situated on the Equator west of Ecuador in the Pacific Ocean. The first recorded visit to the islands—named after the giant tortoises that live here—was in 1535. The archipelago is known for having a large number of endemic species that were studied by Charles Darwin. This research led to Darwin's theory of evolution by means of natural selection.

MACHU PICCHU

Machu Picchu is believed to have been built as a citadel for the Incan Emperor Pachacuti around 1450. After the Spanish conquest a century later, Machu Picchu was abandoned, with no written records left behind. Thick vines and trees grew around it and kept it hidden until it was rediscovered in 1911. By the mid-1970s, about 30% of the citadel was restored.

In 2007, Machu Picchu was voted one of the New Seven Wonders of the World. Discover Machu Picchu with Hurtigruten on our expeditions, or with an added Pre- or Post-Program before or after your cruise.

A magical destination

"South America is one of the great destinations on the planet, with everything from famous ports to hidden gems. On a Hurtigruten expedition cruise, we help you discover the South America where the larger ships don't go, to secret places that only our small expedition ships can reach. Our intent is to discover a small fishing port, and disembark on a remote island and observe wildlife without disrupting it. I think discovering the Incan past of Chile, Peru, and Ecuador should be on the agenda of every traveler—you have to see Machu Picchu and Cusco at least once in your lifetime."

Arnau Ferrer
Expedition Team member and history lecturer

Expedition Team

South America

Learn about ancient cultures and civilizations, explore UNESCO-listed historic highlights, and be awed by exotic wildlife and architectural marvels as we discover South America.

Meet the international Expedition Team members on these cruises. All lectures and activities with the Expedition Team are conducted in English.

Helga Kristiansen, Norway

Expedition Leader

Helga got her master’s degree in biology in Svalbard, and now works as an environmental agent for Hurtigruten and as an environmental advocate at large. She also works as a guide for hiking groups, leading snowmobile tours, and serving as a manager for Camp Barentz in Svalbard.

Tessa van Drie, Netherlands

Expedition Leader

Tessa is from the Netherlands and has a master’s degree in physical geography from the University of Utrecht. After traveling and volunteering in Central and South America for two years, she started working as a tour leader and guided tourist groups in several countries in the region. Tessa now lives in Norway and spends her spare time cross-country skiing, kayaking, and hiking in the mountains. Tessa has been a lecturer on board MS Fram since 2011.

Linda Ársældóttir, Iceland

Biologist

Linda is from Svalbarðseyri, Iceland. She studied biology at the University of Iceland and at the University Center in Svalbard, focusing on plant ecology. She is also a park ranger and has worked at the Vatnajökull National Park and other nature reserves in Iceland during the summer season. She is also an Arctic nature guide and has worked as a snowmobile guide during the winter season in Svalbard.

Joshua van der Groen, Malta

Biologist

Josh was born and raised in Malta, where his deep fascination for the sea and nature developed. He pursued an undergraduate degree in the Netherlands in biology, focusing on marine biology. Since then, he has worked on whale-watching boats, carried out research in the Canary Islands, and guided tourists to see the Aurora Borealis in Finland.

Arnau Ferrer, Spain

Lecturer: History

Born and raised in Barcelona, Arnau studied history at the Universitat Autònoma de Barcelona, where he got a master’s degree in Near Eastern archaeology. After 10 years of field experience, he joined Hurtigruten in 1999. A licensed mountain guide, Arnau enjoys sharing his passion for history, travel, and mountaineering.

WILDLIFE

South America is home to a spectacular array of wildlife, from massive whales to colorful jungle creatures. We explore a wide range of rich ecosystems and offer the opportunity to encounter the following memorable species.

BLUE-FOOTED BOOBIES
We see an abundance of avian life on our cruises in South America. The blue-footed booby is easily recognizable by its distinctive bright blue feet.

WHALES
Whales in this region include humpback, pilot, minke, and the massive finback species.

IGUANAS
Some iguanas can grow up to 1.5 feet in length from head to tail and weigh up to 20 lbs.

LLAMA
The llama has been domesticated for centuries because of its abilities as a pack animal, its soft wool, and as a food source.

SEA LIONS
An adult male South American sea lion can grow over eight feet in length and weigh up to 775 lbs.

DOLPHINS
Dolphins are commonly seen and species include bottlenose, spinner, spotted, and common dolphins.

HUMBOLDT PENGUINS
Humboldt penguins are named after the cold Pacific Ocean current and can be found along the west coast of South America.

THE ANDEAN CONDOR
With a weight up to 33 lbs. and wingspans of up to 10 feet, the Andean Condor is said to be the largest flying bird in South America.

Andean Coast – Expedition from Jungle to Desert

Itinerary 1

Cruise south from Panama City, past the legendary Panama Canal and down South America’s western coastline, visiting vibrant cities, beautiful beaches, and archaeological mysteries along the way.

Day 1 Panama City
Overnight in vibrant Panama City. Consider arriving a few days early to enjoy a Pre-Program that explores the area’s fascinating tropical flora and fauna.

Day 2 Panama City
On your transfer from the hotel to the pier, visit the Panama Canal locks and visitor center at Miraflores. There, you can learn how huge ships are able to maneuver through this marvel of engineering.

Day 3 At sea
Join informative lectures presented by the Expedition Team and spot marine wildlife out on deck.

Day 4 Manta (Full day)
After crossing the Equator, we call on the busy seaport of Manta, where you can visit the city museum, see pre-Colombian artifacts, and join an excursion to nearby Montecristi, where traditional Panama straw hats are handwoven.

INCLUDED EXCURSION:
Panama Hat-Weaving Demonstration

Day 5 Puerto Bolivar (Full day)
Join an optional excursion to an organic banana plantation and discover their unique process of growing fruit by playing classical music. Or, choose a trip to Buenaventura Reserve to observe hummingbirds, hawks, and parakeets.

Day 6 Guayaquil (Full day)
Explore Ecuador’s largest city, such as the the colorful favelas blanketing the hillsides and high-rise buildings lining the Guayas River. Visit ‘Iguana Park,’ where tame iguanas roam the gardens.
INCLUDED EXCURSION:

City Tour, Seminario Park & Museum

Day 7 At Sea
Enjoy another leisurely day at sea. Swap stories with fellow travelers, enjoy a spa treatment in our Wellness Center, find a cozy corner on deck, or sit in on interesting lectures.

Day 8 Salaverry (Half day)
The nearby city of Trujillo is worth a visit to see the renowned UNESCO World Cultural Heritage Site of Chan Chan and the mud-brick ruins of the ancient Chimú Kingdom, ideal for exploring at your leisure.
INCLUDED EXCURSION:
Marinera Dance Show on Board

Day 9 Callao/Lima (Full day)
We dock at the port of Callao and make the short trip into Peru’s vibrant capital city, Lima. Admire its colonial architecture and discover why Lima was called ‘The City of Kings.’

INCLUDED EXCURSION:
Scenic City Tour of Lima
