Further

Specialist, innovative solutions to provide your people with world-class, end-to-end care for serious illnesses and complex conditions

MetLife and AXA in partnership

Access to inclusive healthcare should be universal. But unfortunately, it isn't. Every country has a different healthcare system, with varying levels of quality and availability, meaning access to treatment could be a geographic lottery for your people and their loved ones. This is where you can step in and help provide access to the best care possible, regardless of your employees' location.

To help your people access the latest treatments, technologies and best-in-class international medical expertise, we've partnered with Further, experts in multi-market, specialised health insurance products and service solutions for serious illnesses.

As a MAXIS client[1] you can work with Further[2] and benefit from their innovative solutions to offer your people access to cutting-edge solutions in complex areas of healthcare which combine the latest treatments and technologies with best-in-class international medical expertise.

Precision CancerCare™
Precision CancerCare™ is an employee benefit that leverages the latest advances in cancer treatment. It uses molecular profiling and precision medicine to improve diagnosis and recommend a treatment plan tailored to each individual tumor, based on the patent's genomic profile.

If molecular profiling reveals a possible hereditary mutation, eligible family members can be tested, with genetic counselling sessions available for those who test positive.

Within the programme, Further also offers Precision CancerCare+, an enhanced version of the standard service that provides international access to the best available treatment when it cannot be delivered locally.
