GETTING TO PHILIPS PARK

In terms of history and biodiversity Philips Park is the most important park in the Borough. It was a corner of the medieval Pillington deer park before becoming a farm, then the estate of the Philips family and finally a public park. It was declared a Local Nature Reserve in 1999. Unfortunately the park doesn't currently have a cafe or public toilets.
The Waterdale mtb trail was built by the Forestry Commission in 2010, the Philips Park trail in 2012.
