About The Conference

Brain stimulation methods are rapidly transforming research into how the brain works and are developing into new ways to treat disease. In many ways, the field of brain stimulation is a new paradigm shift, augmenting and sometimes replacing the prominent psychopharmacological paradigm of the past three decades.

Currently, there are single theme meetings around the world that are either technique or profession based or that limit the science in other ways. This fifth international meeting, organized by Elsevier and sponsored by and integrated with the journal Brain Stimulation, will build on the first meeting held in Singapore in 2015, second meeting held in Barcelona, Spain in 2017 and third meeting held in Vancouver, Canada in 2019, the 4th last year in Charleston, USA, the 5th in Lisbon, Portugal. This will be the 6th International Brain Stimulation meeting with forced integration of all the various groups involved in this exciting field.

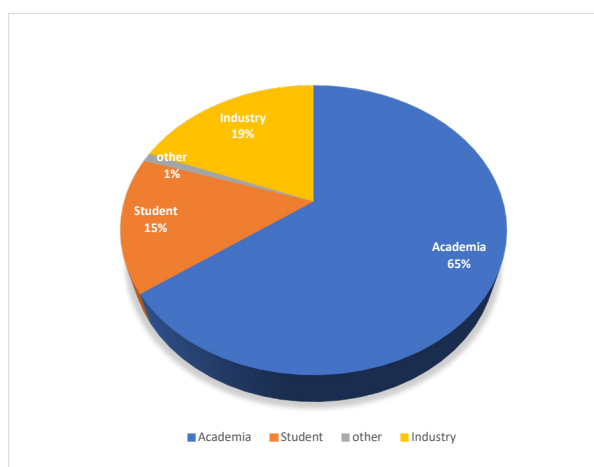

This meeting will follow the successful multidisciplinary broad approach of the first meeting. Basic scientists will attend lectures by engineers and psychiatrists. Cognitive neuroscientists will mingle with neurosurgeons and brain modelling physicists. This fertile cross-disciplinary meeting will provide discussion of the science that is driving advances in the field.
