THE JOURNAL PUBLISHING AGREEMENT

The authors have created the article identified above which, together with any tables, illustrations or other material submitted for publication as part of the article, is referred to in this Journal Publishing Agreement as the “Article”. The authors wish the Owner to publish and distribute the Article and to protect the rights assigned under this Journal Publishing Agreement. To enable the Owner to do so, each author assigns to the Owner the rights set out in this Agreement.

Definitions of terms can be found below.

Assignment of copyright

Each author assigns to the Owner the copyright in the Article (where Crown Copyright is asserted, each author agrees to grant an exclusive publishing and distribution license). This assignment of rights includes but is not limited to the exclusive right to publish, reproduce, display, distribute and otherwise use the Article, or any part of the Article, in print, electronic and all other media (whether now known or later developed), in any form, in all languages, throughout the world, for the full term of copyright, and the right to license others to exercise all rights assigned herein and to prepare derivative works, effective when the Article is accepted for publication. This assignment includes the right to enforce the rights assigned hereunder against third parties.

No other intellectual property rights or rights in patents and trademarks are transferred to the Owner.

Authors’ rights in the Article

Subject to the terms of this Journal Publishing Agreement, each author retains or is hereby granted certain rights to re-use the Article without permission from the Owner or payment to the Owner, as specified below. These rights are personal to each author and cannot be transferred. Each author shall, in connection with any such re-use of the Article, fully acknowledge and attribute the original publication of the Article.

Each author retains or is hereby granted the rights to:

- make copies of the Article (or part of the Article) to promote companies or products they own, whether or not such promotion is commercial;
- include the Article in a thesis or dissertation;
- extend the Article to a book, include the Article in a subsequent compilation of their own work, or re-use portions, excerpts, and their own figures, tables and images from the Article in their own new works (which in each case may be published with Elsevier or with a third party commercial or non-commercial publisher, at the author’s discretion);
- create translations of the Article for non-commercial scholarly collaborations and sharing.

In addition, each author retains or is hereby granted the rights to use and share the Article for the following scholarly purposes:

- Publicly share the Preprint anywhere, at any time;
- Publicly share the Accepted Manuscript immediately on acceptance, attaching a CC BY-NC-ND end user license:
 - via the author’s non-commercial personal homepage or blog;
 - update the previously posted Preprint on arXiv or RePEc with the Accepted Manuscript.
- Privately share the Accepted Manuscript immediately on acceptance, attaching a CC BY-NC-ND end user license:
 - via the author’s research institute or institutional repository for internal institutional uses
 - as part of an invitation-only work group on commercial sites with which the publisher has a hosting agreement.
- Publicly share the Accepted Manuscript after the embargo period, attaching a CC BY-NC-ND end user license:
 - via non-commercial hosting platforms (such as the author’s institutional repository);
 - via commercial sites with which the publisher has a hosting agreement;
 - as part of non-commercial Massive Open Online Courses.
- Privately share the Published Journal Article:
 - for the author’s classroom teaching;
 - in presentations at meetings or conferences, including distribution of copies to the delegates attending such meetings for their personal use;
 - with known research colleagues for their personal use.

In the case of the Accepted Manuscript and the Published Journal Article, these author rights exclude all Commercial Uses not listed above unless expressly agreed in writing by the Owner.

Institution or employer rights in the Article

Where the author is affiliated with an institution, that author’s institution retains or is hereby granted the following rights, which can be used without permission from the Owner or payment to the Owner, provided that full attribution and acknowledgement of the original publication of the Article is given:

- Distribute copies of the Article for classroom teaching and internal training purposes;
- Include the Article in (online) coursework and courseware programs for use within the institution;
- Include the Article in applications for grant funding;
- Publicly post the Article as part of theses and dissertations, where embedded as part of the formal submission, with a link to the formal publication through the relevant DOI.

Where an author is employed by a company, that author’s company retains or is hereby granted the right to distribute copies of the Article for internal training purposes, without permission from the Owner or payment to the Owner, provided that full attribution and acknowledgement of the original publication of the Article is given.

Supplemental Materials and Research Data

With respect to any Supplemental Materials and/or Research Data (as defined below) that an author submits, that author retains all rights in such Supplemental Materials and/or Research Data and hereby grants the Owner a perpetual worldwide, non-exclusive right and license to publish, extract, reformat, adapt, build upon, index, redistribute, link to and otherwise use all or any part of the Supplemental Materials and/or Research Data in all forms and media (whether now known or later developed), and permit others to do so.

Where an author has selected a specific end user license under which the Research Data is to be made available on a site or through a service, the Owner and/or the publisher shall apply that end user license to the Research Data on that site or service.

Reversion of rights

Articles may sometimes be accepted for publication but later rejected in the publication process, even in some cases after public posting in “Articles in Press” form, in which case all rights assigned to the Owner under this Journal Publishing Agreement will revert to the author (see:

<https://www.elsevier.com/about/policies-and-standards/article-withdrawal>).

Revisions and addenda

This Journal Publishing Agreement may not be varied unless such variation is in writing and signed by the Owner and the corresponding author. This Journal Publishing Agreement supersedes any previous agreements entered into between the corresponding author and the Owner in relation to the Article from the date hereof.

Author Representations/Ethics and Disclosure/Sanctions

Each author affirms the Author Representations set out below, and confirms that they have reviewed and complied with the relevant Instructions to Authors, Ethics in Publishing policy, and Declarations of Interest disclosure and information for authors from countries affected by sanctions. Please note that some journals may require that all co-authors sign and submit Declarations of Interest disclosure forms. Each author is also aware of the publisher’s policies with respect to retractions and withdrawal (<https://www.elsevier.com/about/policies-and-standards/article-withdrawal>).

For further information see the publishing ethics page at <https://www.elsevier.com/publishingethics> and the journal home page. For further information on sanctions, see <https://www.elsevier.com/about/our-business/policies/trade-sanctions>.

Author Representations

- The Article submitted to the journal for review is original, has been written by the stated authors and has not been previously published.
- The Article was not submitted for review to another journal while under review by this journal and will not be submitted to any other journal.
- The Article, the Supplemental Materials and the Research Data do not infringe any copyright, violate any other intellectual property, privacy or other rights of any person or entity, or contain any libelous or other unlawful matter.
- All necessary written permissions have been obtained from the copyright owners of any excerpts from copyrighted works that are included in the Article, the Supplemental Materials, and/or the Research Data, and all such third parties have been correctly and appropriately credited.
- Except as expressly set out in this Journal Publishing Agreement, the stated author(s) are the legal and beneficial owners of the rights assigned herein and the Article is not subject to any prior rights or licenses which conflict with the terms of this Journal Publishing Agreement.
- Each author confirms that they are not identified as a Specially Designated National (“SDN”) and if any of the authors reside in Russia, Belarus, Iran, Cuba or Syria, the Article has been prepared in a personal, academic or research capacity and not as an official representative or otherwise on behalf of the relevant government or institution.
- If any personal details or images of patients, research subjects or other individuals have been used, all written and fully informed consents required by applicable law have been obtained and evidence of such consents has been retained, and the authors have complied with the Owner’s and/or the publisher’s policies relating to the use of such materials. See <http://www.elsevier.com/patientphotographs> for further information.
- Any software contained in the Supplemental Materials and/or the Research Data is free from viruses, contaminants or worms.

Corresponding Author’s Representation

If the Article, any of the Supplemental Materials and/or the Research Data, were prepared jointly with other authors, I (as corresponding author) have informed all co-author(s) of the terms of this Journal Publishing Agreement and have duly obtained their authorization to sign this Journal Publishing Agreement as their agent.

Governing Law and Jurisdiction

This Journal Publishing Agreement is governed by and shall be construed in accordance with the laws of the country or state in which the Owner is incorporated (“the Governing State”), without regard to conflict of law principles, and the parties irrevocably consent to the exclusive jurisdiction of the courts of the Governing State.

For information on the publisher’s copyright and access policies, please see <http://www.elsevier.com/copyright>.

DEFINITIONS

Commercial Use

The use or posting of the Article:

- for commercial gain – for example, by associating advertising with the full-text of the Article, by providing hosting services to other repositories or to other organizations, or charging fees for document delivery or access;
- to substitute for the services provided directly by the publisher – for example, article aggregation, systematic distribution via e-mail lists or share buttons, posting, indexing or linking for promotional/marketing activities by commercial companies for use by their customers and/or the intended target audience of such companies (e.g. pharmaceutical companies and healthcare professionals/physician-prescribers).

Preprint

Author’s own write-up of research results and analysis that has not been peer reviewed, nor had any other value added to it by a publisher (such as formatting, copy editing, technical enhancements, and the like). Preprints should not be added to or enhanced in any way in order to appear more like, or to substitute for, the Published Journal Article.

Accepted Manuscript

The manuscript of the Article that has been accepted for publication and which typically includes author-incorporated changes suggested during submission, peer review, and editor-author communications. The Accepted Manuscript should not be added to or enhanced in any way to appear more like, or to substitute for, the Published Journal Article.

To check the embargo period for the journal, go to <https://www.elsevier.com/about/policies-and-standards/sharing#3-accepted-manuscript>. The publisher has agreements with certain funding agencies that may permit shorter embargo periods and/or different sharing guidelines. To learn more about the publisher's policies and agreements with such agencies or institutions go to <https://www.elsevier.com/open-access/agreements>.

Published Journal Article

The definitive final record of published research that appears or will appear in the journal and embodies all value-adding publisher activities, including peer review co-ordination, copy-editing, formatting, (if relevant) pagination, and online enrichment.

Supplemental Materials

Materials published as a supplemental part of the Article, including but not limited to graphical, illustrative, video and audio material.

Research Data

The result of observations or experimentation that validate research findings and that are published separate to the Article, which can include but are not limited to raw data, processed data, software, algorithms, protocols and methods.
