Public and ecological transport in Montpellier

Montpellier: One of the largest pedestrian area and the largest tramway network in France!

Montpellier's tramway is the ideal way to get around Montpellier and discover the city from a different angle, on foot or by bike. After being judged the "sexiest tramway in Europe" in 2012 by the New York Times, the Montpellier tramway was voted the most beautiful in France among the twelve major French transport networks according to a survey by the daily newspaper 20 minutes.

Montpellier mobility, an ecological transition

For better air quality and a quieter living environment, an ambitious concept of active mobility has been launched by 2025: free local public transport, support for the purchase of electric bikes and an extended network of cycle paths.

Montpellier currently has 4 tram lines, 36 bus lines, more than 50 self-service bicycle stations and 160 km of bicycle lanes. By 2025, the construction of a fifth tramway line, the extension of line 1 to the Sud de France station and the addition of 5 more trambus lines will strengthen the city's transport network.

To complete the existing network, Montpellier Méditerranée Métropole plans to create a bicycle express network called "Vélolignes Montpellier" by 2026. It will link several municipalities in the Metropole and will include a network of advanced services of about 230 km.

Montpellier Méditerranée offers many advantages for cycling. In the heart of the vineyards and garrigues, by the sea or in the Petite Camargue, cycle tourism is well established in our region.
