

Julio Nemeth

Global Supply Officer

Julio leads P&G’s global Product Supply organization, which includes procurement, engineering, manufacturing, customer service, quality, distribution, and innovation program management—and approximately 58,000 employees, 115 manufacturing plants, and 200 distribution centers around the world are all focused on bringing irresistibly superior products to the world’s consumers.

Julio joined P&G in 1990 as a site engineer for our Beauty business in Brazil. He quickly gathered experience in engineering, plant and business operations, and product supply—and has experience with P&G businesses around the world, facilitated by his fluency in four languages. Julio was elected President, Global Business Services, in 2015.

Julio blends his depth of experience with a warm, direct, and highly pragmatic approach, and passionately sponsors P&G’s People with Disabilities network.
