

Phil Duncan

Chief Design Officer

Phil Duncan leads P&G's global Design discipline in transforming the strategies of the company's ten product categories into superior, holistic consumer experiences. Working seamlessly from innovation to execution, his organization applies design thinking and technical expertise to all aspects of package, product, retail, digital and environment design.

Phil began his career at P&G in brand management in 1991, working on several brands in the Hair Care category. He joined Landor Associates, a major branding and design consultancy, in 1995—eventually becoming Managing Director of the Chicago and Cincinnati offices and building Cincinnati into the largest office in the Landor network. Phil then became President, Landor Europe and Middle East in 2006, and led a network of more than eight offices to record levels of revenue and profitability.

Phil returned to P&G in 2008, where he was appointed the Company's Chief Design Officer. He and his talented team of world-class designers share a passion for creating growth and superiority for our P&G Brands.

Birthplace

Cincinnati, Ohio, U.S.A.

Education

Ohio State University, Fisher College of Business, M.B.A., 1992

University of Kentucky, B.A., Design & Advertising, 1987

Date Joined P&G

August 1, 2008

Year

2008

Positions Held

Chief Design Officer

1995

Brand Management, Assistant Brand Manager, Vidal Sassoon

1992

Brand Management, Assistant Brand Manager, Prell

Year

2006

President, Landor Associates, Europe and Middle East

1995

Managing Director, Landor Associates, Cincinnati and Chicago

Executive Director, Senior Consultant, Landor Associates

Continued...

Affiliations, Activities and Recognition

Consumer Technology Association, Board of Industry Leaders

The Conference Board, Design Leaders Council, Member

ArtsWave, Region Board Member, P&G Chair

Fast Company Impact Council, Member

Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce, Former Board Member

Ohio State University, Advancement Committee, Former Member