TARIQ AL-OLAIMY: Nearly 8 billion human beings. Only 1 planet earth. How can we work together towards securing a safer and healthier future for our planet - and for each other?

CHRISTIANA FIGUERES: The terms of reference is actually to give the next generation a better world, not a worse world.

TARIQ AL-OLAIMY: Expo 2020 Dubai's Programme for People and Planet is taking on the challenge of dreaming up that better world -

MAGGIE ADERIN-PCOCK: I think that's what we need to give all our kids - cancel that, that's what we need to give everybody. The desire to aspire, to have a dream and pursue it.

TARIQ AL-OLAIMY: -and turning that dream into reality.

KENNEDY ODEDE: I see that as opportunity. It is really harnessed well, but if not, it's going to be a doom.

TARIQ AL-OLAIMY: This 6-month long series of events and experiences invites you - to join change-makers and innovators from across the world - as they exchange ideas and solutions for a more sustainable future. From climate change advocates -

CHRISTIANA FIGUERES: I decided right then and there that I was going to change my attitude and I was going to help the world change its attitude on climate change.

TARIQ AL-OLAIMY: - to space scientists.

MAGGIE ADERIN-PCOCK: We need to be telling people that. We need people to know that science is truly for everybody.

TARIQ AL-OLAIMY: And we are bringing this programme to you over ten episodes covering ten unique themes. Join us as we profile some of the programme's influential keynote speakers and listen - as they inspire a sense of responsibility towards our planet... hope... and a belief that, together, we can change the fate of humankind.
