

LIVING EMOTIONS WITH JARVÉS

Prestigious properties for experiencing excellence

'Living emotions' is the mission of Jarvés', a Milan-based company operating in luxury real estate throughout the Italian peninsula, which is a clear objective that has been pursued since its foundation last year under the name of Harves. Today, after 12 months and a growth both in terms of staff and negotiations managed, Jarvés, the company's new name, is ready to offer customers new living experiences and residences of high standing.

Jarvés, emphasizing the values of reliability, knowledge and attention to detail, uses qualified professionals in order to guarantee an impeccable service in both the sale and the purchase of prestigious solutions, nurturing relationships based on sincerity and trust.

'Our team of young professionals,' says Francesco Montesanti, CEO of Jarvés - is made up of real estate agents with high technical and communicative skills, supported by a staff of professionals able to provide complementary services such as legal and fiscal assistance, appropriate to how delicate high-value negotiations are. We guarantee the client a valorization of properties through home layout design, thanks to a qualified team of interior designers as well as a specific marketing plan for the promotion of the property. We put all our energy and authentic passion into every real estate project, to provide our clients with the full satisfaction of living in a home they can identify with—one that is true to their needs and serves as the beating heart of a daily life where exclusivity and refinement harmoniously coexist with practicality and efficiency. Ultimately, properties that reflect each individual's personal lifestyle. The company's distinctive element to manage each mediation in the best possible way is in-depth knowledge of the real estate market and method, dealing with a clientele that is often international. Achieving this goal is possible for Jarvés thanks to a well-organized structure consisting of a team of collaborators that uses the best technologies for property management. Building and maintaining relationships, inspiring moments of meeting and intellectual exchange are further objectives of the brand to stimulate synergies and relationships. "Evolution is the key to our company - explains Montesanti - which involves a constant expansion of the team, which will reach 16 people by April, and a broadening of the scope of action areas in anticipation of a major expansion by 2026. We are in fact, ready to enter new markets in addition to those we have already established ourselves in, which are Milan, the Italian seaside, lake and mountain resorts such as Lake Garda, Madonna di Campiglio, the Amalfi Coast and Rome, which is increasingly becoming a hub for prestigious properties of high historical and architectural value. "

Jarvés therefore establishes itself as a solid reference in the quest for an exceptional living experience, ensuring secure, discreet support that is perfectly tailored to the client's style and desires.
