

LET'S GET PACKING

It may look to your child as if it's easy to get packed and planned for the vacation activity of the day, but you know it's not. While you're getting organized for the day, keep your child busy and give her a better sense of how much there is to do! Hand her this book and a pencil so she can learn more about vacation planning.

In the space next to the word box (or on a separate piece of paper) have your child list all the words in the boxes with the number one. Then have her do the same for the words in the boxes numbered two, three, four, five, and six. She'll have to unscramble the words that go with each number to create a sentence. In the end she'll have six sentences that explain what it took to get ready for a hiking trip.
