Many people try to escape the grip of obesity by following fads like keto diets and undertaking strenuous workouts. Many people, however, find themselves in a dead end, with no progress at all, and drowning in their own efforts.

This unyielding condition is often caused by a lack of Polyphenols. Polyphenols are a crucial nutrient which plays a key role in weight loss. Olive oil was traditionally a source of Polyphenols. However, today's manufacturing environment, which is rife with harsh chemicals and pesticides compromises the purity and potency of olive extracts and leaves them devoid of essential nutrients.

There is hope, however. The medical community is buzzing with excitement over a revolutionary supplement created by Dr. Cara Brunetti. The revolutionary weight-loss supplement 'Olivine' harnesses the power of pure olive oil extracts combined with other natural ingredients.
