BioVanish, a product of WellMe, contains a combination of natural ingredients that help you to lose weight, increase fat burn, and do so while enjoying a tasty cocoa-flavored drink once a day.

Does WellMe BioVanish work? How does BioVanish help you lose weight? In our review, you will learn everything about WellMe BioVanish.

What is WellMe BioVanish?

WellMe BioVanish, a drink mix with cocoa flavoring, is designed to help you lose weight.

You can enjoy the benefits of a ketogenic diet by taking WellMe BioVanish every day, without having to follow a ketogenic diet.

WellMe BioVanish is available as a powder that can be mixed into water, milk, a dairy alternative, a smoothie, or other beverages of your choosing. Drink it every day to increase fat burning.

WellMe BioVanish supports healthy levels of beta-hydroxybutyrate, similar to the way keto diet powders and pills work. WellMe BioVanish can help you increase the levels of BHB within your bloodstream by taking it daily. To achieve this, you will need to either fast or follow a diet low in carbohydrates. BHB levels are linked to ketones and weight loss.

WellMe exclusively sells BioVanish online via LeanLoophole.com. The formula was developed in collaboration with several doctors.

What is WellMe BioVanish?

WellMe BioVanish mimics the effects of a ketogenic diet without you having to consume even a single ketogenic meal.

WellMe describes its formula as "a dairy-farm weight loss method", identified by Yale doctors. The formula helps you burn calories throughout the day by keeping your body in a state of ketosis, which is a fat-burning state.

According to the manufacturer, the following are some of the effects that the dairy farm method or WellMe BioVanish can have:

- More day-to-day energy
- Maintain healthy blood sugar and blood pressure levels
- Enjoy this delicious cocoa drink daily
- Keep your cells burning fat for energy
- To maximize ketosis, maintain healthy BHB levels
- You can enter ketosis even without eating any keto diet meals

The Dairy Farm Method

The WellMe BioVanish is based on a method called the dairy farming method. This formula is based on the dairy farm method.

The dairy farm method supports a key body enzyme called beta-hydroxybutyrate (BHB). Your body will not burn fat as energy when your BHB levels are low.

The "dairy farming method" is called this because it contains special fats from raw milk products. These fats may increase BHB levels.

When BHB levels are high, the body is more likely enter ketosis and begin burning fat as fuel.

BHB imbalance could be the reason why you have trouble losing weight, even when you exercise and diet. Unbalanced BHB levels make weight loss impossible, no matter how hard you try.

In order to enter ketosis, you must usually follow a low carbohydrate diet or fast. You can, however, increase your chances of entering ketosis with WellMe BioVanish by giving BHB to your body directly.

WellMe BioVanish is a weight loss supplement that contains BHB in a high dose to help you achieve ketosis, and stay there as long as possible.

WellMe BioVanish contains 9-c fats to boost BHB production

Most keto diet pills simply give you BHB. The BHB salts flood your body, increasing BHB levels.

WellMe BioVanish, on the other hand, works differently. The formula uses a dairy farm method that involves the use of special fats in order to speed up weight loss.

WellMe BioVanish makers explain the effects of the product:

"...raw milk products contain high levels of an unusual fat molecule. They are called 9-c-fats because they have 9 carbon atoms on average.9 c-fats tell your body to make more BHB ."

Raw milk contains the same type of fats. Raw milk is dangerous and difficult to obtain. Raw milk is pasteurized and processed before it's sold in stores.

Raw fats in WellMe BioVanish help your body enter ketosis by increasing BHB production. In ketosis your body uses fat for fuel, not carbohydrates.

WellMe BioVanish contains no dairy products and is vegan. The 9-c fatty acids in the formula are derived from coconut oil, not dairy products.

Short story: WellMe BioVanish, and the dairy farming method, allow you to reap the benefits of a ketogenic diet without all the work.

WellMe BioVanish Ingredients

WellMe BioVanish is a combination of ingredients selected by doctors, including 9-c premium fats and vitamins and minerals.

WellMe BioVanish is different from other weight loss supplements that flood your body with stimulants and caffeine to speed up weight loss. The formula has the ingredients that your body requires to stay in a fat-burning phase and maximize fat loss.

According to the manufacturer, here are the ingredients and their functions in WellMe BioVanish:

Coconut Oil Premium 9-c Fatty Acids: WellMe BioVanish's key ingredient is a line of 9-c premium fats. These fats come from raw dairy products. These fats are usually destroyed by processing. Raw milk contains these fats, but it is difficult to find and dangerous. According to the WellMe BioVanish website, 9-c fatty acids can increase BHB levels even more than a ketogenic diet. These milk proteins have been shown to increase fat loss "as much" as 12 hours of fasting. Instead of starving all day, take the 9-c powder and mix it with your favorite beverage. WellMe BioVanish, a dairy-free and vegan formula, gets its 9-c fats from coconut oil.

L'Theanine: WellMe BioVanish is a product that contains L-theanine. This amino acid is extracted from teas such as green tea. L-theanine has been prized because it can counteract the unwanted effects of caffeine, such as jitters and anxiety. Many people combine L-theanine with caffeine to increase their physical and mental energy. WellMe says that L-theanine has "great benefits". It can help you sleep better, reduce stress and burn belly fat.

B Vitamins: The WellMe BioVanish formula contains B vitamins to increase energy and speed up weight loss. B vitamins are essential for mental and physical energy. They also fuel your cells on a cellular level. WellMe reports that people who take in more B vitamins are 38% less likely than others to be overweight.

WellMe says that it has worked with doctors to combine all these ingredients in dosages backed by clinical evidence, to help you support healthy BHB and to accelerate results.

WellMe BioVanish: Scientific Evidence

Andrea Taylor, the WellMe team and doctors have developed the BioVanish formulation. WellMe cites a number of clinical trials and studies to explain how BioVanish works and how it helps you enter ketosis. Below, we'll go over the evidence.

MCT Powder is by far the most important and largest ingredient in BioVanish. Each serving contains 5g of MCT powder made from coconut oil. Multiple studies have linked MCT powder to weight loss, increased energy and other benefits:

Researchers found that medium-chain triglycerides improved exercise endurance through boosting metabolism and mitochondrial biogenesis. MCT powder increases energy at the cellular levels, helping athletes to perform at their best.

Researchers compared MCT and olive oils in a study. Researchers gave MCT or olive oil to 31 men and woman aged 19-50 over a 16-week weight loss period. Researchers found that MCT oil resulted in significant weight loss without negatively impacting metabolic risk factors.

Researchers analyzed more than a dozen controlled trials that involved MCTs and weight loss in a review published in 2015. Researchers found that MCT supplementation led to modest weight loss without increasing cholesterol or affecting blood lipids. The review included 13 trials with hundreds of participants.

Cleveland Clinic explains that MCT oil helps with weight loss by making you feel satisfied. MCT oil can promote the release hormones that signal your stomach capacity. This helps you to naturally eat less.

WellMe added B vitamins to bioVanish to help reduce weight. WellMe claims that people who consume B vitamins more often are 38% less likely than others to be overweight. This claim is supported by studies. In a 2018 study for instance, B vitamins were found to reduce body weight through increased energy metabolism. The B vitamins increase your daily calorie burn and make it easier to maintain a caloric surplus. Other studies cautioned that the relationship between B vitamin and obesity might not be causal. People who are slimmer could have a healthier diet. This doesn't necessarily mean that B vitamins cause weight loss. There is some relationship between B vitamins, healthy weight and weight loss.

L-theanine has been used in brain-boosting formulas and nootropic supplements for many years. Some studies have linked L-theanine with weight loss. For example, one trial found that L-theanine activated browning of mice's white adipose tissues by boosting cellular power and activating AMPK. Researchers believed that L-theanine could play a role in combating diet-induced weight gain. BAT (brown adipose tissues) burns more calories than white fat. "Browning" the white fat can boost daily calorie consumption.

WellMe BioVanish is a combination of ingredients that are proven to increase cellular energy and weight loss. WellMe BioVanish, with its high-dose of B vitamins, MCT powder and L-theanine could help you shed significant pounds when combined with healthy eating and regular exercise.
