Sugar Flush Pro Ingredients

Amy Walton created Sugar Flush Pro using a list of secret ingredients obtained from tribal medicine specialists in Okinawa. This recipe was handed down from generation to generation for more than 1,400 years.

Amy collected the ingredients with Dr. Tsuda's help to create Sugar Flush Pro. Healthical, which manufactures Sugar Flush Pro also suggested a few additional ingredients.

According to the Sugar Flush Pro official website, here are the ingredients and their functions:

Gymnema Sylvestre: Sugar Flush Pro contains a popular herbal extract called Gymnema sylvestre. Gymnema Sylvestre, also known as guruma (and more commonly known as gurmar) in traditional Okinawan Medicine, comes from a rare leafy vine which grows naturally on Okinawa. Amy says that the Japanese elite uses Gymnema Sylvestre to "manage obesity and weight loss." According to Dr. Tsuda, this ingredient also "begins the sugar flushing process," which balances your blood sugar levels and forces it to burn fat as energy. It helps restore metabolic balance to your bloodstream. It also stops glucose from entering the bloodstream and encourages fat cell breakdown.

Magnesium & Biotin: The Sugar Flush Pro is a mixture of magnesium and biotin. Magnesium helps your body absorb sugar by sending a message to it to produce more glucagon, the chemical receptor that is linked to normal blood glucose levels.

Chromium Sugar Flush Pro is rich in chromium. This essential mineral helps your body to break down carbs and fats. Your body requires chromium in order to break down sugar and fats efficiently, converting them into energy. Diabetics often take chromium daily to control blood sugar.

Juniper Berries: sugar flush pro contains juniper fruit to increase your body's rate of glucose burning. When blood sugar levels rise, juniper berry signals your body to release more hormones that burn sugar. The berry contains vitamin C, which is one of the best antioxidants in nature.

Banaba Leave Extract: Banaba leaves extract protects your pancreas against damage, says the official website. It helps you maintain healthy levels of insulin for weight loss.

White Mulberry Leaf Extraction: White mulberry extract reduces visceral (the fat around your organs and liver) fat. White mulberry leaf can supposedly reverse the metabolic damage caused by high blood glucose.

Manganese and Zinc Oxide: The Sugar Flush Pro is a combination of two essential minerals including manganese and zinc. These minerals help your body burn fat and break down fats.

Guggul Guggul has a long history in Ayurvedic or traditional Indian medicine. You can find it in many diabetes formulas, as well as blood sugar support supplements. It is known for its ability balance blood sugar. According to the official website, Guggul supports thyroid function and helps your body produce hormones that burn fat in your thyroids. Your thyroid produces thyroid-stimulating hormones (TSH) that help to boost metabolism. According to Amy and her group, Guggul helps support the production these hormones. Guggul also contains guggulsterones - a plant extract that has been shown to metabolize fatty acids.

Licorice Licorice is a natural herb that helps you flush out toxins and metabolizes fats. You will struggle to lose weight if your liver is not performing at its best.

Cayenne & Cinnamon Sugar Flush Pro completes the formula by adding two additional ingredients: cayenne and Cinnamon. According to the manufacturer this duo "increases body temperature", inducing thermogenesis or your body's fat burning processes. These ingredients have a weight-loss effect that is "effortless" when combined with other Sugar Flush Pro ingredients.

Okinawan Guruma: The Ultimate Sugar Flusher

According to Amy and her staff, Okinawan Guruma is the most important ingredient of Sugar Flush Pro. The plant extract, also known as gymnema, is said to flush sugar out of your body and prevent it from being absorbed.

According to the official website, Okinawan Guruma helps diabetics to balance their blood sugar.

Amy, Dr. Tsuda and her team describe Okinawan Guruma as the "ultimate'sugar-flusher" because "it blocks sugar from entering your system."

Okinawan Guruma prevents sugar from entering the body in two different ways.

Okinawan Guruma first blocks the receptors that allow sugar to enter your intestine, thus preventing it from entering your system and raising your blood sugar level.

Okinawa guruma also reduces your craving for sweets. This will naturally discourage you from eating foods that cause blood sugar to spike.

wild hunger swings are common among people with unbalanced blood sugar. Sugar Flush Pro uses Okinawan Guruma to balance your appetite swings.

Sugar Flush: Scientific Evidence

Amy and her team have cited dozens of scientific papers to support the claims on the website. These include placebo-controlled studies published in peer reviewed medical journals. Below, we'll examine some of the cited evidence to verify the science behind Sugar Flush Pro.

It's not clear why Amy, Dr. Tsuda and her team named Gymnema silvestre the "Okinawan Guruma." No plant by that name is known in traditional medicine in any part of the world. There is a judo throwing that has a similar title. Gymnema is not known as guruma by anyone outside the small community of traditional medicine Amy and her team met on Okinawa. The alternative name of the plant is Gurmar. This is what it is commonly known as.

Gymnema Sylvestre can help maintain healthy blood sugar. A 2014 study discovered that the plant extract possessed phytochemical and pharmaceutical properties. This made it an ideal support for healthy blood sugar. Researchers found that the plant extract was beneficial for blood sugar homeostasis, while also controlling sugar addictions and promoting pancreatic regeneration, lowering cholesterol and showing other effects.

Sugar Flush pro also contains 50mg of extract bitter melons. Some studies suggest that bitter melon can help with weight loss. According to a 2015 report in the Journal of Lipids, bitter melon supplements could help reduce obesity and metabolic syndrome.

Sugar Flush Pro is a blend of active ingredients that are linked to weight loss and blood sugar balance. The supplement may help support healthy blood glucose levels. It may not reduce blood sugar as much or treat serious diabetes cases, as claimed on the Sugar Flush Pro official website.
