What is the root cause of hearing loss?

Let's first discuss the causes of hearing loss, which SonoFit targets.

According to renowned scientists at the Himalayan institute of Medical Sciences (HIMS), hearing loss occurs when the eardrum becomes inflamed as a result of the immune system's response to a new threat.

According to several studies, the new danger is ototoxins. These are toxic medical chemicals that are present in many modern medications prescribed by doctors. Ototoxins can cause hearing loss by causing your eardrums to shrivel up. The body does not have the ability to process these substances. They spread quickly and can cause an imbalance in the immune system of the body.

What is the SonoFit System?

SonoFit's formula is designed to treat the root cause of the hearing loss. It acts as an "eardrum bandage" and can help the eardrum recover, so it doesn't suffer any further damage.

SonoFit is a formula that promises to work in just three simple steps.

This will stop the damage by clearing your ears of toxic substances. You will notice a slight improvement in your hearing at this stage because your ears have more time to heal when they are no longer under constant attack. Vertigo will also improve dramatically.

The formula then rebuilds the eardrum to achieve 20/20 hearing. Once the toxins have been removed, your eardrum will heal and gain its elasticity.

In the final stage of the formula, it teaches the ear's immune system to combat any future toxins.

What are the ingredients in SonoFit that make it work?

Here is a list of some of the key ingredients that SonoFit contains to improve ear health.

Garlic Oil

Garlic oil comes from the cloves of garlic and contains almost all active compounds that are found in fresh garlic. These compounds may have beneficial effects on digestion, immunity, circulation, and inflammation.

Garlic's anti-inflammatory properties help to reduce pain, swelling, fever, and redness associated with common ear infection such as swimmer's ear (otitis medie).

Garlic can be applied topically to the affected area and provide relief for the pain and discomfort caused by these illnesses. It can also speed up the healing by decreasing inflammation and irritation.

Mullein

Mullein is a flowering herb that grows in North America and Europe. It can also be found in India and Australia. The plant produces tall stems up to six feet in height, adorned with yellow flowers. It grows on disturbed soil in sunny, dry areas. The dried leaves can be used as a herbal remedy to treat various ailments including headaches, body aches, and chest colds.

Evidence suggests that the plant has powerful anti-inflammatory qualities that can reduce inflammation in the ears. Mullein also contains antiseptic compounds that work together to form a protective layer over an injured eardrum, or to prevent further infection by bacteria.

Pumpkin Seed Oil

Pumpkin seed oil is an oil made from pressed pumpkin seeds. It contains polyunsaturated essential fatty acids such as linoleic (omega-6), alpha-linolenic (omega-3), which both help regulate hormone production for healthy ears. Other components, such as oleic and sterols, are also beneficial for heart health.

Pumpkin seed oil contains polyunsaturated fats like omega-3, omega-6 and omega-9. These fatty acids help to promote hearing health by regulating the hormone production within the ear.

It contains powerful antioxidants such as carotenoids and vitamin E. These compounds can help reduce inflammation of the ear while preventing damage from free radicals caused by environmental toxins.

Olive Oil

Olive oil is a great way to promote healthy ears by lubricating the ear canal. Olive oil reduces friction in the ear canal that can lead to irritation or damage. It can also prevent wax buildup, which could lead to infection if not treated.

Olive oil can also be used to combat bacteria and fungi that are commonly found in the inner ear canal. Olive oil is rich in monounsaturated fats that fight microorganisms trying to invade the inner part of your ears.

Olive oil also contains antioxidants that can reduce inflammation caused by infections or allergies in the ear, which can cause pain and discomfort.

Echinacea

Echinacea promotes ear health in several ways. Its primary effect is that it acts as an antimicrobial: alkylamides are compounds which possess antifungal properties against microorganisms that can cause infections in the ear or other areas such as the sinuses and face. Echinacea is a great choice to treat ear infection symptoms like pain and swelling.

Echinacea also contains cichoric acids, which are antioxidants that help reduce inflammation of the outer ear canal.

USES: To soothe the ear canal and promote a healthy ear.

DIRECTIONS: Tilt head to one side and squeeze 3 drops into affected ear. Hold the position for 3-5 minutes before tilting head upright. Use twice daily as needed.

CAUTION: Do not use if ear drum is perforated. Use only in the ear. Tip of applicator should never enter the ear. Avoid contact with eyes and do not ingest. If swallowed, drink water and seek medical attention immediately. Discontinue use if irritation occurs.

INGREDIENTS: Olive Oil, Lavender Oil (Lavandula angustifolia), Mullein Leaf Powder, Tea Tree Essential Oil (Melaleuca alternifolia), Echinacea Root Extract, Pumpkin Seed Oil, DL-Alpha Tocopherol Acetate Oil, Garlic Oil.

What is the science behind SonoFit?

research indicates that, in addition to being a topical treatment to treat ear infections and related illnesses, garlic may also prevent further problems from arising because of the overuse antibiotics to treat these illnesses if taken orally as a part of a healthy diet.

Mullein may also help to reduce swelling in the tissues of the middle-ear. This could improve hearing problems caused by fluid accumulation within the inner ear cavity.

In a study published in Journal of Evidence-Based Complementary & Alternative Medicine, it was found that the topical application of echinacea extracted effectively treated acute external otitis in children and adults caused by susceptible bacteria. After 6 days of treatment the symptoms of the patient significantly improved.

In a 2019 study, it was revealed that active ingredients found in tea tree oil such as alpha-terpineol and terpinen-4ol possess antibacterial properties, when used with a specific type of bacteria, Staphylococcus aureus. These compounds may be able to eliminate harmful bacteria from the ear and surrounding areas.
