

Google Pay Coming to N26 Customers in Switzerland

Berlin, October 8, 2019 - N26 today brings Google Pay, a fast, simple way to pay, to its customers in Switzerland. The announcement follows the Mobile Bank's recent launching their free euro bank accounts in the Swiss market, the latest step in its international expansion. Launching Google Pay underscores N26's efforts to offer the most innovative products and services to customers in all markets it operates in.

Google Pay brings together everything customers need at checkout and keeps their payment information safe in their Google Account. Plus, Google Pay makes it easy to keep track of purchases, redeem loyalty points, and get personalized suggestions to help save time and money.

Google Pay enables Android users to quickly and easily pay with their phones. To use it, customers will need to download the Google Pay app from the Google Play Store and then sign up for Google Pay, add their preferred credit and debit cards and are ready to go.

With N26's euro bank account, Swiss will enjoy seamless payments within the Eurozone on their mobile device, whether travelling across the border on a business trip to Germany, or holidaying in Italy. Using Google Pay in a shop, the customer simply needs to hold the phone near a contactless terminal and the payment will be complete.

"We see huge demand for mobile payment solutions in all the countries we operate in. Bringing Google Pay to Switzerland just weeks after our launch in the market is another important step in our mission, to offer the latest, most innovative products and services so our new Swiss customers can enjoy a truly borderless banking experience within the Eurozone," explains Georg Hauer, General Manager of DACH at N26.

The Google Pay app also offers a full overview of all transactions, together with nearby offers and stores. Under the cards tab, it shows all individual credit, debit, reward, and gift cards.
