

PEOPLE OF N26

Georgina Smallwood

Chief Product Officer

Georgie Smallwood is N26's Chief Product Officer, in charge of defining, leading and implementing the company's global product strategy.

Georgie joined N26 in 2018, and brings with her over 15 years of experience in global digital and software companies such as Xero, News Ltd and Scout24.

Having led teams at fast-growing companies across the globe, Georgie prides herself for her leadership skills, strategic thinking and operational effectiveness, as well as her ability to lean into the challenges of scaling a global business with a focus on communication and respect.

At N26, she oversees product, portfolio and design divisions, working closely with the CTO and her counterparts in the banking division to build a simple and intuitive banking experience that helps people live and bank their way.

A proud Australian, Georgie holds a degree in the arts from Deakin University, with majors in history and sociology.
