

Choose the correct answer:

1. Many things in America are named in honor of George Washington. Some include Washington D.C., the state of Washington, many streets in the United States, the one dollar bill, and what coin?
  - a. The quarter
  - b. The penny
  - c. The nickel

2. As a General, why did George Washington insist on being on the front line of fire even though it was the most dangerous place to be?
  - a. To try to reason with the enemy soldiers.
  - b. To serve as an example of bravery.
  - c. To be the first to arrive at each battle.

3. When George Washington served as a volunteer in the French and Indian War, what job did he have under the supervision of General Braddock?
  - a. Weapon carrier
  - b. Top aide
  - c. Meal service supervisor

4. To what did George Washington credit his bravery in saving hundreds of lives in the French and Indian War?
  - a. His family's prayers.
  - b. His military training.
  - c. The grace of God.

5. What hardships had Washington endured as a young person?
  - a. Both his parents died, and he lost his home in a fire.
  - b. He was bullied in school and forced to move hundreds of miles away from his family.
  - c. His father died, and soon after that, his half-brother died. He needed to drop out of school and get a job at a very young age.

6. Why did George Washington not want to serve a third presidential term, even though many wanted him to?
  - a. He was exhausted from the job and diagnosed with a terminal illness.
  - b. He didn't want to be perceived as a king. He believed no one person should have that much power.
  - c. He was afraid he would not win the election and did not want to disappoint his supporters.

Answer the following questions using complete sentences.

7. What are some pieces of advice that George Washington wanted to share in his farewell address?

---

---

---

8. What can you learn about leadership from George Washington's life?

---

---

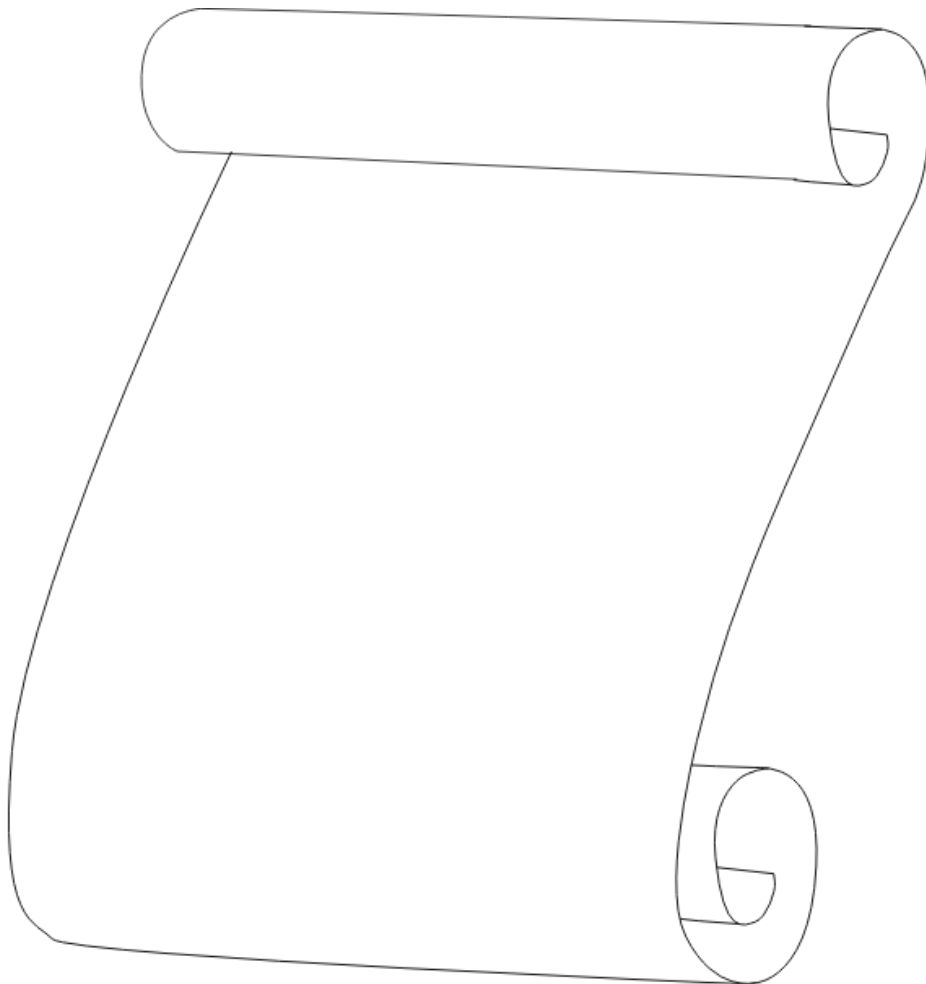

---

Circle your group's assigned segment. Take notes from the video on the scroll below.

Mr. George Washington

General George Washington

President George Washington

George Washington | Answer Key

1. Many things in America are named in honor of George Washington. Some include Washington D.C., the state of Washington, many streets in the United States, the one dollar bill, and what coin?
  - a. The quarter
  - b. The penny
  - c. The nickel
2. As a General, why did George Washington insist on being on the front line of fire even though it was the most dangerous place to be?
  - a. To try to reason with the enemy soldiers.
  - b. To serve as an example of bravery.
  - c. To be first to arrive at each battle.
3. When George Washington served as a volunteer in the French and Indian War, what job did he have under the supervision of General Braddock?
  - a. Weapon carrier
  - b. Top aide
  - c. Meal service supervisor
4. To what did George Washington credit his bravery in saving hundreds of lives in the French and Indian War?
  - a. His family's prayers.
  - b. His military training.
  - c. The grace of God.
5. What hardships had Washington endured as a young person?
  - a. Both his parents died, and he lost his home in a fire.
  - b. He was bullied in school and forced to move hundreds of miles away from his family.
  - c. His father died, and soon after that, his half-brother died. He needed to drop out of school and get a job at a very young age.
6. Why did George Washington not want to serve a third presidential term, even though many wanted him to?
  - a. He was exhausted from the job and recently diagnosed with a terminal illness.
  - b. He didn't want to be perceived as a king. He believed no one person should have that much power.
  - c. He was afraid he would not win the election and did not want to disappoint his supporters.

Answer the following questions using complete sentences.

7. What are some pieces of advice that George Washington wanted to share in his farewell address?

Answers will vary. Sample answer: George Washington believed that Americans must stick together to protect freedom and prosperity. Being an American is special and should be a source of pride and patriotism. We should place differences aside for the country's good, and although church and government should be separate, a religious and moral population is important for a healthy republic.

8. What can you learn about leadership from George Washington's life?

Answers will vary. Sample answer: From George Washington, I can learn that a great leader puts others first, serves as an example of bravery, and should be humble and not power-hungry.

Circle your group's assigned segment. Take notes from the video on the scroll below.

Mr. George Washington

General George Washington

President George Washington

Answers will vary. Accept reasonable participation.

