Students will understand Idaho's geography, unique characteristics, and historical significance.

Learning Objectives:

- Identify and locate the state of Idaho on a map, understanding its geographical positioning among the 50 states.
- Know the abbreviation for the state of Idaho and be able to spell its name.
- Describe nine unique characteristics of Idaho, including aspects of its history, climate, and cultural significance.

Key Vocabulary:

- Federally Recognized Tribes: Native American groups officially recognized by the U.S. government as separate nations with their own leaders, cultures, and lands. In Idaho, the five federally recognized tribes are the Coeur d'Alene, Kootenai, Shoshone-Bannock, Nez Perce, and Shoshone-Paiute. This recognition helps these tribes preserve their traditions and access support for schools, healthcare, and more.
- Missionary: A person who travels to share their religion or help others learn about their beliefs. Missionaries often teach, help communities, and build relationships while spreading their faith.
- Louisiana Purchase: The acquisition of a vast territory in North America by the United States from France in 1803. The purchase, negotiated by President Thomas Jefferson, doubled the size of the U.S., adding approximately 828,000 square miles of land west of the Mississippi River. This territory includes all or part of 15 current U.S. states and is considered one of the largest land deals in history.
- Corps of Discovery Expedition: A significant journey led by Meriwether Lewis and William Clark from 1804 to 1806, commissioned by President Thomas Jefferson to explore the newly acquired Louisiana Purchase, map the uncharted territory, establish American presence before European powers tried to claim it, and study the area's plants, animal life, and geography while also establishing trade with Native American tribes.
- Sun Valley Ski Resort: A famous mountain resort known as America's first destination ski resort. Opened in 1936, it introduced the world's first chairlift and became a popular spot for skiing, snowboarding, and outdoor recreation.
- "Esto Perpetua": The state motto of Idaho, written in Latin, meaning "Let it be perpetual." The motto reflects Idaho's hope for enduring beauty, prosperity, and strength. It symbolizes the state's pride in its natural resources and heritage, wishing for them to last forever.
