What is a serious injury claim?

If you suffer a catastrophic or life-changing injury, you can claim compensation for the pain and financial losses you experience.

Here's how it works:

I suffered a serious injury that wasn't my fault. I arranged a free call with Co-op Legal Services. I spoke with a specialist Lawyer who provided a no obligation initial assessment of my claim and advised me what my rights and options were. They also discussed how to fund my claim through their No-Win No Fee agreement.

Co-op Legal Services helped me through all the necessary steps:

- 1. Preparing witness statements
- 2. Obtaining expert medical evidence
- 3. Valuing my claim
- 4. Negotiating settlement with the other side

They provided me with a no-win-no-fee agreement and a clear plan at the start of the claim, so I knew what the different steps of the claim would be and how long the claim was likely to take.

My Lawyer kept me updated throughout the claim and, at the end of the case, ensured that I spoke with my Independent Financial Adviser about how best to handle my compensation award.

My Lawyer secured the best compensation for my injuries and also recovered:

- 1. My past and future lost earnings
- 2. My future loss in pension income
- 3. Payments for past and future care costs
- 4. The cost of ongoing private medical treatment
- 5. The cost of aids, equipment and adaptations to my home
