

Shaping Mission Training for the New Landscape

A roundtable conversation to explore the context, contributing factors, opportunities, challenges and strategic pathways forward associated with the changing demand for and nature of mission training in western countries, and to discern the implications for the Missions Interlink community

DR DAVID TURNBULL

David's extensive participation in the global church has been participating for over 30 years in activities with a range of intercultural, mission and globally focused organizations in Australia and beyond. His main cross-cultural experience involved lecturing in Nigeria. For the past 25 years David lectured in the areas of missiology and intercultural engagement in Adelaide and beyond. His PhD, completed in 2019, explored clergy and cultural intelligence. He currently serves as the International Ministry Director for Local Leaders International managing their Local Online: A Global Strategy project. His research interests include Australian missions history, multicultural church, intercultural formation and intercultural missional engagement. He is married and has one son.