

Case Study: How we embraced a new landscape

Baptist Mission Australia's journey of discernment and change. As Baptist Mission Australia seeks to welcome a future of mission that responds to the world as it is, and as it's becoming... we've had some big questions to ask. And we are guessing it's the same for you and your organisation! This workshop will take you through key questions like: How can we honour past, present and future stakeholders? How can we prioritise people, partnerships and projects? Should we still send? How can we be polycentric, really? How can we be courageous in leading change? Throughout the workshop, hear insights from Baptist Mission Australia leaders, ask questions and reflect on your experiences.

GEOFF MADDOCK, TEAGAN DWYER-RIVIERE & SUSAN CAMPBELL

BAPTIST MISSION AUSTRALIA

Geoff has worked as a support-raising intercultural worker in diverse communities in the US and Australia, practiced urban mission as placemaking and urban farming and now serves Baptist Mission Australia as a Missiology Specialist.

Teagan is the Communications Manager at Baptist Mission Australia. She has been serving in the communications team for a decade and loves the opportunity to share stories of God at work with supporters and partnering churches.

Susan has enjoyed many roles at Baptist Mission Australia and currently serves on the leadership team. She loves empowering leaders, journeying alongside intercultural team members, and navigating organisational dynamics and development.
