

Forced to Resign for Mishandling Child Abuse Allegation

His response to a child abuse case cost an Australian Christian leader his dream job. Is your mission unknowingly making the same mistakes? Using Australian Mission case studies, this session will introduce a framework to assess your organisation's response to child abuse allegations.

PAUL TUXWORTH

Paul and his family served as missionaries in the Philippines. He has worked as a trainer, investigator and consultant with Christian missions in child abuse prevention and response for 15 years. He was instrumental in the establishment of the 13 week course at the Brisbane School of Theology, called "Child Abuse Prevention and Response in Christian Communities". It is the first and only child abuse course approved by the Australian College of Theology.
