9:30am – 10:30am General Session
EXP2502. Deposition on Qualifications Demonstration
Students will observe a demonstration of an attorney faculty member conducting a “deposition” of an expert witness (an accounting faculty member). During this session, attendees will learn the attorney’s goals for the deposition and how the accountant responds to questioning. Students will be able to:

- Analyze a live demonstration of a deposition of an expert witness
- Compare attorney’s goals for the deposition to the expert’s response to questioning
- Evaluate observations and address questions

Field of Study: (A) Accounting

CPE: 1

Level: Intermediate

Prerequisite: None

10:30am – 11:00am Morning Refreshment Break

11:00am-12:15pm General Session
EXP2503A. Deposition Practice on Qualifications (Group 1)
During this interactive session, students will be briefly “deposed” by an attorney on their actual resumes. Each student will be “deposed” twice, with one session video recorded. Following each deposition, a brief critique will be provided by faculty members. Students will be able to:

- Apply concepts during interactive attorney-student depositions
- Evaluate their own deposition, via video* replay
- Interpret real-time critiquing and feedback received from an attorney

The video recording will be a valuable tool for students to refer to and learn from when they return home.*

Breakout Sessions

EXP2509A. Practice of Direct Examination – Economic Damages

EXP2509B. Practice of Direct Examination – Business Valuation

During this interactive session, faculty members will work with students on direct examination exercises. Each student will “testify” to a part of the case study, followed by critiques given by in-room faculty. The practice session will be video recorded so that the participant can replay their “testimony” in a one-on-one session with another faculty member for an additional critiquing. Students will also gain valuable insight by watching other students practice their role in the case. Students will be able to:

- Determine how the direct examination processes works
- Apply communication skills during real-time practice sessions
- Apply concepts during interactive attorney-student depositions
- Analyze their own practice session, via video* replay
- Interpret real-time critiquing and feedback received from a variety of faculty members
