Days 2–3

Tarangire National Park

Tarangire National Park

- Explore among massive baobabs, open grasslands and the wildlife-rich Tarangire River.
- Follow large elephant herds and watch for lions, leopards, giraffes, zebras and other wildlife.
- Scan riverbanks, woodlands and wetlands for hundreds of bird species.

Set out into the ancient landscapes of Tarangire National Park, famous for its giant, silhouette-bound baobab trees and unrivaled concentration of elephants. As the lifeblood of the area, the Tarangire River draws impressive herds down to its banks, creating constant wildlife drama along the water's edge.

Over two days, traverse a changing backdrop of riverine woodlands, open marshes, and golden savannas. Keep your binoculars ready for tree-climbing lions, elusive leopards resting high in the branches, and a dazzling array of colorful bird species. In the evenings, return to your cozy Nyumba camp to dine beneath a blanket of stars and listen to the ambient calls of the African wilderness.

Days 4–5

Ngorongoro Crater

Ngorongoro Crater

- Stay near the crater rim, positioning you for an early descent the following morning.
- Descend 2,000 feet into the crater in search of lions, elephants, buffalo, hippos and black rhinos.
- Explore grasslands, wetlands and forests within the crater's steep volcanic walls.

Ascend into the mist-shrouded Ngorongoro Highlands, settling into camp along the crater's high rim. This vantage point guarantees you'll be among the first to descend the narrow track at dawn, arriving on the crater floor just as the morning light breaks across the steep caldera walls.

Spanning roughly 100 square miles of unbroken caldera floor, this enclosed natural amphitheater shelters an extraordinary density of resident wildlife year-round. Throughout the day, your search for the Big Five leads you across short-grass plains and into shaded acacia groves. Ancient bull elephants carrying massive tusks move through the high grass, while lion prides lounge on the open turf within sight of grazing Cape buffalo. Farther down in the Lerai marshes, hippos grunt and splash through the shallow waters. Across the open central flats, keep your eyes trained on the distance for heavily guarded black rhinos moving quietly against the backdrop of the crater wall.

Days 6–9

Serengeti National Park

Serengeti National Park

- Spend four days exploring the Serengeti's sweeping plains, kopjes and acacia woodlands.
- Search for lions, leopards and cheetahs, along with elephants, giraffes, hyenas and abundant plains wildlife.
- Watch for wildebeest and zebra herds moving through the Serengeti in search of fresh grass and water.

Crossing the park gates, the Serengeti unfolds into a sea of short-grass plains dotted with flat-topped acacias. Over four full days, your guide relies on fieldcraft rather than crowds to track wildlife, reading fresh prints along dusty tracks and watching for family herds of elephants threading through the woodlands or vast pods of hippos grunting in river pools.

Instead of watching the clock, you have the luxury of remaining with the great herds as wildebeests and zebras move together across the open savanna. Spend hours observing calves learning to navigate the plain, trailing hyenas back to their burrows at dusk, or pausing for an unhurried field lunch right in the bush. As evening sets in, return to your Nyumba camp, positioned directly within prime wildlife corridors, so the soft calls of nocturnal birds and the gentle rustle of nighttime grazers soundtrack your evening.

Day 10

Kilimanjaro International Airport

A farewell lunch in Arusha before flights home

Wake up to one final, quiet morning, cradling a warm cup of coffee while watching the giraffes gather around the watering hole in the soft early light. After a heartfelt goodbye to the camp staff and guides who have shared their deep wisdom throughout the journey, board your bush flight back to Arusha.

Upon arrival, transfer to the Arusha Hotel to settle into your day room, freshen up, and pack your bags. Spend a quiet afternoon reflecting on the memories of the wild before your transfer driver arrives to bring you to Kilimanjaro International Airport for your flight home.

Eastern Serengeti

Eastern Serengeti Nature Refuge

- Visit to a private 10,000-acre refuge in the Eastern Serengeti.
- Explore on foot with Maasai guides, discovering details often missed from a safari vehicle.
- Head out after dark in search of nocturnal wildlife and spend time with Maasai communities.

Leaving public tracks behind, board a brief flight to a secluded 10,000-acre reserve where private access replaces crowded transit corridors. Ground your senses in activities strictly prohibited inside Tanzania's national parks: step out on guided walking safaris with Maasai naturalists who decode animal tracks in the soil, and set out after sunset on night drives to observe bat-eared foxes, aardvarks, and civets emerging under the stars.

Between excursions, unwind back at camp right beside a busy natural watering hole. Sit back with a fresh cup of coffee and watch giraffes, zebras, warthogs, and baboons filter out of the bush to drink and play. To round out your stay, visit a nearby primary school and a vibrant women's handicraft market to meet local teachers, learn about community education, and see traditional Maasai beadwork in the making.
