

WEB DEVELOPER

hello@lizfaria.ca • www.lizfaria.ca • @lizcookscore

ABOUT

Hi, my name's Liz and I'm a front-end developer based in Toronto. I love the limitless possibilities for learning, connecting and creating that comes with web development. I am dedicated to writing clean code, and composing responsive, accessible, performant sites. I want to join a team that creates quality content.

EXPERIENCE

FRONT-END DEVELOPER

Tennis Design | September 2018 - October 2019

Using JavaScript, JQuery, CSS, HTML, Django templating and Git, I develop innovative websites for major education, arts, science, technology and business organizations, including Ryerson, Staples, New Harvest and Factor. It is vital in my role to keep up to date with innovative web technologies, web design trends, and best practices in backwards compatibility, responsiveness and accessibility. Using this knowledge, I work with designers and a back-end developer to scope and refine web designs. As a team we review wire-frames, data structures and Invision prototypes, and create actionable design revision. In addition, I participate in internal strategies and exercises to facilitate the development of new workflows, ideas and business development.

MENTOR

Canada Learning Code & Hackeryou | April 2018 - present

Empower budding developers to feel a sense of belonging and excitement about tech, and help them build JS, HTML and CSS projects.

RECENT WORK

JAVASCRIPT

Factor Annual Report

Users can browse Factor funded artists and listen to a playlist of their songs on the site's HTML5 audio player.

REACT / FIREBASE / API

DevAvengers

Users can search for comics from the Marvel API, and login to save any results to their personal collection.

EDUCATION

IMMERSIVE WEB DEVELOPMENT BOOTCAMP

HackerYou | April 2018 - June 2018

Intensive 9-week program that focuses on refining JavaScript, React, CSS and HTML skills through hands-on project-based learning.

UNIVERSITY OF KING'S COLLEGE

Dalhousie | September 2013- May 2017

Bachelor of Arts with first class honours in Contemporary Studies and Sociology.