

THE COSTA SHORT STORY AWARD

in association with the Costa Book Awards

TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF ENTRY

Please read all terms and conditions carefully before submitting an entry.

Please note that the only email address from which individual queries will be answered is cssa@booksellers.org.uk. We will respond where possible but we are sorry that we cannot guarantee a response to all emails. Emails sent to any other address found on the Costa Book Awards (the “CBA”) website will not receive a response. All relevant updates will be posted on www.costabookawards.com and via Twitter (@CostaBookAwards). Please note that unsuccessful entrants will not be contacted individually.

Submission of an entry is taken as acceptance of all the terms and conditions of entry.

Incomplete entry forms and short stories not submitted in accordance with these terms and conditions will not be eligible for consideration.

Note: Proof of any of the following conditions of eligibility may be requested from entrants at any time and will be checked at shortlist stage.

1 ELIGIBILITY

a) The Costa Short Story Award (the “CSSA”) is for a single, previously-unpublished short story of up to 4,000 words by an author aged 18 years or over on 1 January 2020 whose primary residence (ie resident for over six months of the year) has been in the United Kingdom or Ireland since 1 November 2017. UK or Irish nationality is not a requirement. If there is any issue about whether or not you qualify as a UK resident, please check with the organisers before submitting your entry.

b) Entries must be submitted in English. Translations of short stories originally published in languages other than English are not eligible.

c) Entries will not be eligible where the author is a member of the judging panel, anyone involved in the management/administration of the CSSA or a close family relative of any such person.

d) The submitted story must not have been previously published in print or online or broadcast.

e) A story published posthumously will not be eligible if the author died prior to 1 January 2020.

f) Authors currently serving a term of imprisonment are ineligible for the CSSA. This is for practical purposes - when an author is shortlisted/wins, the organisers need direct and speedy access to the author.

2 ENTRY

- a) Entries may only be submitted online via the specific entry form on the CBA website (www.costabookawards.com). Entries submitted in any other form will not be accepted.
- b) Entries for the CSSA can be submitted at www.costabookawards.com from Wednesday 1st July 2020. Submission of entries will be acknowledged automatically with an on-screen message when the Submit Story button has been pressed. There will be no separate acknowledgement by email. The closing date for entries to be submitted is 5pm on Monday 3rd August 2020 and entries submitted after this date will not be accepted. A message will then appear on www.costabookawards.com to confirm that entry for the CSSA is closed and entries submitted after that time will not be accepted.
- c) Entries may be submitted by the author, their publisher or their agent.
- d) Although the entries will be assessed anonymously, they must be submitted in the author's own name.
- e) The submission of an author's work by the publisher/agent will be taken as agreement by the author that they are willing for the submitted work to be considered and to comply with these terms and conditions.
- f) No more than one story per author may be submitted. It is the responsibility of the author to ensure that no more than one of their stories is submitted in total. If more than one story is submitted, only the first story received will be considered.
- g) Authors may only enter individually and not as part of a team.
- h) The story submitted must be a separate, standalone, original story and not a chapter of a book or ongoing work.
- h) The story submitted must be (and by submission of this form is warranted by the author and accepted by the CBA to be) original, fictional, and entirely the author's own work. It must not infringe the copyright or any other rights of any third party and not be libellous, unlawful or defamatory of any living person or corporate body. The author is entirely responsible for any potential copyright or other legal issues in their story.

3 THE SHORT STORY

- a) The story must not exceed 4,000 (four thousand) words. Please note: 4,000 is the maximum word count but not a specific target.
- b) If the story has already been submitted to other competitions or publications, please ensure that it is given a different title before being submitted to the CSSA. This is because, if it has already been commended elsewhere, this would then compromise the anonymity of its author, particularly if it is shortlisted.

c) There is no set theme to the story, but we encourage all entrants to submit entries that are bold, different and original in order for them to stand out from the rest.

d) The format of the story must adhere to these following rules, and the CBA management team will change all shortlisted/Highly Commended stories to this format to ensure that they are all the same:

i) PDF format

ii) Typed in Arial 12 pt black font

iii) Double-spaced

iv) Hard returns between paragraphs (NO indentations anywhere please and NO page numbers)

v) The name of the author must not appear anywhere within the story

vi) The name of the story and word count to be included within the header on every page.

a) Entries will be judged anonymously; in other words, the name and other personal details of the author will not be linked to the story/made available to either the initial readers or the judges.

b) The judges of the CSSA will be looking for what they think is the best entry on the basis of quality and originality of prose, narrative voice and storyline.

c) All entries will be initially read by a team of readers who will select a smaller number of stories for the judging panel to read. This is not deemed to be an official longlist (as each story will have been selected at this stage by one reader rather than as a result of collective discussion and agreement), and authors of these stories will not therefore be advised that their stories have been selected for submission to the judging panel.

d) A judging panel will read the short stories selected by the team of readers and will draw up a shortlist of three stories plus an additional list of up to six Highly Commended stories.

e) The three shortlisted stories (which will remain anonymous) will be made available on the CBA website between mid-November 2020 and mid-January 2021, and the public will be asked to vote for their favourite.

f) The identity of the authors of the three shortlisted stories will be announced after voting has closed. At the same time, the authors of the Highly Commended stories will be announced. All shortlisted/Highly Commended authors will be contacted by the CBA management team before this announcement.

g) A winner and two runners-up will be announced in January 2021.

h) The winner will receive prize money of £3,500. The author in second place will receive £1,000 whilst that in third place will receive £500.

i) Costa Limited ("Costa Coffee") reserves the right to increase or reduce the numbers of entries selected for the judges to read and for the shortlist at its sole discretion.

j) The judging will be fair and independent. The judging panel will be appointed by the Director of the Costa Book Awards. The decisions of the judges are final. Neither discussion nor correspondence concerning any decision will be entered into.

5 SHORTLIST AND WINNER

a) All three shortlisted writers will be contacted personally by email or by telephone using the details provided at the time of entry. Unsuccessful entrants will NOT be contacted.

The three shortlisted stories will be published on the CBA website during November 2020. The overall winner and two runners-up will be announced at the CBA presentation in January 2021.

b) For the purposes of fairness to all three shortlisted authors, their anonymity must be maintained throughout the voting period. If there is any evidence that any of the authors have told anyone that their story is shortlisted (eg by comments made on the internet which have been found after a brief search), Costa Coffee reserves the right to withdraw that author's short story from the competition immediately.

c) The winner will receive a cheque for £3,500. The author in second place will receive a cheque for £1,000 whilst that in third place will receive a cheque for £500.

d) By submitting a story, the entrant agrees to (or if the entrant is the author's publisher or agent it confirms that it has secured the author's agreement that the author will BA in the event of being shortlisted and, in the event of winning, to undertake a mutually acceptable programme of activities to promote the CSSA particularly immediately after the announcement of the winner has been made. For the avoidance of doubt, any publisher or agent who submits an entry on behalf of its author shall be responsible for inviting and ensuring their author's attendance at the Awards ceremony and any further activity agreed.

f) It is a condition of entry that the authors of all the Highly Commended/shortlisted stories must cooperate with the CBA management team in all publicity and promotion opportunities surrounding the CSSA.

g) By submitting an entry, writers of all winning, shortlisted or Highly Commended entries agree to ensure that in the event that any winning, shortlisted or Highly Commended entry is published, including in any anthology publications, it will carry approved Costa Book Awards credits if requested to do so and provided all materials bearing such approved credits, logos or trademarks are pre-approved by the CBA management team. Such accreditation if required will be provided to the winning, shortlisted and Highly Commended authors.
