Registered Veterinary Technician

Mountainside Animal Hospital + 24 Hour Emergency is looking to grow our Registered Veterinary Technician team!

Under new management and leadership with our amazing Medical Director, Dr. Harry Cozens, and inspiring Hospital Director, Robyn Luscombe, Mountainside Animal Hospital and 24 Hour Emergency is continuing to grow and change. Focusing on emergency medicine only, we are excited to add another full-time Registered Veterinary Technician to our team to help us as we move in a very exciting direction.

We understand that it's about more than just working in a nice building with fancy toys and great wages and benefits; you also want growth and development opportunities to magnify your talents while still protecting your quality of life outside of work. And how about a workplace where you can bring your dog to work, too?!

Perfect for outdoor enthusiasts and urbanites alike, North Vancouver, BC, is an incredible place to live and work. It's true that our hospital offers a variety of extensive services and equipment, but it's our people who truly make the difference. Emergency work is not for everyone, but with a patient-first philosophy, we aim to make every client and team member feel like they are part of our family.

The Position:

We are searching for a full-time Registered Veterinary Technician (RVT) who is up for the fast paced and exciting challenge of emergency work and who wants to challenge themselves to the next level. These positions are on a rotational basis, including weekends and overnights which means your job is always changing and you never know what will come through the door next.

Why Should You Apply?

- Above average pay at $26-$33/hr
- $2 differential for overnight shifts on top of hourly base pay rate

- Extremely attractive schedule (full time is 3 shifts/week with 4 days off each week) with fairness and work/life balance in mind
- Great benefits package and CE allowance
- 100% discount on many services for staff pets and discounted pet food
- Fun perks like bringing your dog to work and healthy (okay, not always healthy...) snacks in the staff room and staff events
- Beautiful work space, view and location that encourages a healthy lifestyle (think dog trails, mountains, fresh air!)
- Chance to challenge yourself and develop your skills
- A place to feel proud of and passionate about so you can look forward to coming to work every day
- A supportive, team environment where you feel valued and make life-long friends

Come join us and be a part of this exciting growth and new direction while advancing your own skills and experience!
