

WELCOME TO PETSUITES!

We're so excited to have your pet as a part of our family.

As they acclimate to all the fun our resort has to offer, you may notice some behaviors that aren't usual for your pet. Don't worry – these are totally normal and to be expected after visiting PetSuites while they adjust to all their new friends. Soon enough, their tails will be wagging and they will be undeniably excited to come stay and play at PetSuites!

THIRSTY

Your pup just had a very exciting and a very busy day! Even though water is available at all times to our guests, there were lots of new smells and even more new friends to meet, and it's not uncommon that they didn't drink as much water as normal because they were exploring their new environment. As long as they have water available when they get home, they'll rehydrate in no time!

TIRED

Their visit was, to put it modestly, nothing short of exhilarating. Between new friends and a new play place, your pet had a very active day! If they seem more tired than normal, this is to be expected. It can take a couple of playdates to get used to all the fun.

HUNGRY

There's a good chance your pup worked up an appetite during their full day of play! It's common for them to feel hungry after burning all their energy during playtime. We recommend offering them small, frequent meals so that they don't accidentally overeat, but are able to replenish all those burned calories!

NOT HUNGRY

There's also a good chance that your dog had so much fun today, they're ready to curl up and dream about their next playdate at PetSuites! Don't panic, simply offer a good scratch behind the ears and know their appetite will return soon.

NAUSEOUS

To top off the best day ever, there's a chance your pet slurps up all their food/water when they get home, and rather fast. This may lead to an upset stomach! So to prevent this from happening, offer water and food in small amounts when they first get home.

POTTY TIME

It's normal for your pet to have a sudden urge to use the restroom at pick-up or when first getting home (and it may be abnormal too). All the activity and excitement during the day may have been distracting, and even with ample breaks, your pet may have simply been too busy having a great time to stay in their normal bathroom routine!

Additional questions/concerns/feedback?

We're here to help! Please call your local resort to speak with a Pet Host who can walk you through what's to be expected.