

Enroll Your Dog in Our Clinical Study for Acute Pancreatitis

We are looking for dogs to enroll in our clinical study investigating a potential new treatment for the clinical signs of acute pancreatitis. If your dog is vomiting or has a lack of appetite, tired, painful stomach or hunchback posture, they may be eligible to enroll. This condition can escalate quickly and may become fatal if left untreated by your veterinarian.

The study requires visits over a 10-day period. All activities related to the study will be at no cost, including exams, labwork and the assigned study treatment.
