frequently asked questions on voting

q Am I entitled to receive notice of the meeting and attend the meeting?

a Yes, if you are a holder of common shares or non-voting shares of TELUS as of March 15, 2006, which is the record date for the meeting. All shareholders, as of the close of business on that date, are entitled to receive notice of, attend and be heard at the meeting.

q Am I entitled to vote and what am I voting on?

a If you are a holder of common shares as of the close of business on March 15, 2006, you are entitled to cast one vote per common share on each of the resolutions relating to i) the election of directors and ii) the appointment of auditors. If you are a holder of non-voting shares as of the close of business on March 15, 2006 you have the right to attend and be heard at the meeting.

q Am I a registered or non-registered shareholder?

a You are a registered shareholder if you have a share certificate registered in your name.

You are a non-registered shareholder if:

- your common shares are registered in the name of an intermediary (for example, a bank, a trustee or an investment dealer) or the name of a clearing agency of which the intermediary is a participant, or
- you hold common shares through the TELUS Employee Share Purchase Plan.

q How can I vote my common shares?

a You can vote either by attending and voting your common shares at the meeting or, if you cannot attend the meeting, by having your common shares voted by proxy. How you exercise your vote depends on whether you are a registered or non-registered shareholder (for descriptions, see the previous question).

Voting by attending the meeting – registered and non-registered shareholders

If you are a registered shareholder, you are entitled to attend the meeting and cast your vote in person.

If you are a non-registered shareholder, you are entitled to attend the meeting and cast your vote in person, provided you have submitted a properly executed proxy, inserting your name in the blank space provided and returning it in the envelope provided. When you arrive at the meeting, advise the registration staff that you are a proxy appointee. If you have received a voting instruction form, please follow the instructions on the form.

Royal Trust Corporation of Canada (the “Trustee”) is the trustee of all common shares (the “employee shares”) held on behalf of members of the TELUS Employee Share Purchase Plan. Holders of employee shares are treated in the same manner as non-registered shareholders. If you hold employee shares, you are entitled to attend the meeting and cast your vote in person, provided you have submitted a properly executed proxy, inserting your name in the blank space provided and returning it according to the instructions on the form. When you arrive at the meeting, advise the registration staff that you are a proxy appointee.

Voting by proxy

How you vote depends on whether you are a registered shareholder, a non-registered shareholder or a holder of employee shares.

Voting by proxy – registered shareholders

If you are a registered shareholder, you may vote your proxy in one of three ways:

- by paper proxy to be returned by mail or delivery
- by telephone
- by Internet.

Whichever method you choose, your proxy must be received by TELUS’ Corporate Secretary, c/o Computershare Trust Company of Canada (9th floor, 100 University Avenue, Toronto, Ontario, M5J 2Y1), no later than 5:00 p.m. (local time) on May 1, 2006 or, if the meeting is adjourned, by 5:00 p.m. (local time) on the second-last business day prior to the date on which the meeting is reconvened.

frequently asked questions on voting continued

▪ Proxy and voting by mail or delivery:

To vote by mail or delivery, your paper proxy must be completed, signed and returned in accordance with the instructions on the paper proxy.

▪ Proxy and voting by telephone:

To vote by telephone, call the toll-free number shown on the proxy form that was sent to you by mail or e-mail. Using a touch-tone telephone to select your voting preferences, follow the instructions of the “vote voice” and refer to your holder account number and proxy access number provided on your proxy.

Note that you cannot vote by telephone if you wish to appoint a person as a proxy other than someone named on the proxy form. In that instance, your proxy should be voted by mail, delivery or Internet.

▪ Proxy and voting by Internet:

To vote your proxy by Internet, visit the website address shown on the proxy form that was delivered to you by mail or e-mail. Follow the online voting instructions and refer to your holder account number and proxy access number provided on your proxy.

Voting by proxy – non-registered shareholders

If you are a non-registered shareholder and you receive these materials through an investment dealer or other intermediary, complete and return the materials entitling you to vote, by following the instructions provided to you by the investment dealer or other intermediary.

If you hold employee shares, use one of the three voting procedures outlined above (mail, telephone or Internet), to direct the Trustee as to how your employee shares are to be voted. The Trustee will deliver the proxy forms for use at the meeting for all votes to be cast at the meeting as indicated on all paper, telephone or Internet proxies. Computershare Trust Company of Canada (“Computershare”) has agreed to act as the recipient of voting instructions by holders of employee shares received by proxy and will tabulate the results for the Trustee.

The voting rights attached to employee shares will be voted for or against or withheld from voting only in accordance with the specifications made by the employees. If a proxy is not received by Computershare on behalf of the Trustee according to the above procedures, the employee shares will not be voted by the Trustee.

For employee shares to be voted at the meeting by the Trustee or a duly appointed proxy, proxies must be received by TELUS’ Corporate Secretary, c/o Computershare, (9th floor, 100 University Avenue, Toronto, Ontario, M5J 2Y1) no later than 5:00 p.m. (local time) on May 1, 2006 or, if a meeting is adjourned, by 5:00 p.m., (local time), on the second-last business day prior to the date on which the meeting is reconvened.

If an employee holds common shares other than employee shares, another proxy must be completed to vote those shares, unless the employee attends the meeting and votes the common shares in person.

q Who votes my shares?

a Each person named in the proxy to represent shareholders at the meeting is a director and/or officer of the Company. You can appoint someone else to represent you at the meeting, however, you must appoint that person by either paper proxy or Internet proxy by inserting his or her name in the appropriate space on the proxy form, or completing another acceptable paper proxy. The person you appoint does not need to be a shareholder but must attend the meeting in order for your vote to be cast.

q How will my shares be voted if I return a proxy?

a By completing and returning a proxy, you are authorizing the person named in the proxy to attend the meeting and vote your shares on each item of business you are entitled to vote on, according to your instructions.

If there are no instructions with respect to your proxy, your common shares will be voted in favour of:

1. electing as a director each person nominated by management of the Company for the ensuing year; and
2. appointing Deloitte & Touche LLP as auditors for the ensuing year and authorizing the directors to fix their remuneration.

q Can I revoke a proxy?

a Yes, if you are a registered shareholder and have voted by paper, telephone or Internet proxy, you may revoke it by delivering a duly executed proxy by paper, telephone or Internet with a later date or a form of revocation of proxy. Such paper proxies can be delivered to the registered office of the Company, to the attention of TELUS' Corporate Secretary, 21 – 3777 Kingsway, Burnaby, B.C. V5H 3Z7, any time up to and including May 1, 2006, or if the meeting is adjourned, on the business day preceding the date of the adjourned meeting.

Alternatively, you may revoke your proxy and vote in person, by delivering a form of revocation of proxy to the Chair of the meeting at the meeting or any adjournment thereof before the vote in respect of which the proxy is to be used is taken. You may also revoke your proxy in any other manner permitted by law.

If you are a non-registered shareholder, you may revoke your proxy or voting instructions by contacting the individual who serves your account.

As a holder of employee shares, if you have provided your proxy (by paper, telephone or Internet) you may revoke it by delivering another proxy (by paper, telephone or Internet) with a later date or a form of revocation of proxy, no later than 5:00 p.m. (local time) on May 1, 2006 or, if a meeting is adjourned, by 5:00 p.m. (local time) on the second-last business day prior to the date on which the meeting is reconvened.

q Who has discretionary authority to vote on amendments or variations to any of the business items and on any other matter that may properly come before the meeting?

a Your voting instructions provided by paper, telephone or Internet proxy give discretionary authority to the person you appoint to vote as he or she sees fit on any amendment or variation to any of the matters identified in the notice of the meeting and any other matters that may properly be brought before the meeting, to the extent permitted by law. As of March 10, 2006, neither the directors nor senior officers of the Company are aware of any variation, amendment or other matter to be presented for a vote at the meeting.

q Is my vote by proxy confidential?

a Yes, your vote by proxy is confidential. Proxies are received, counted and tabulated by our transfer agent, Computershare, in a way that preserves the confidentiality of individual shareholders' votes, except:

- As necessary to meet the applicable legal requirements
- In the event of a proxy contest
- In the event a shareholder has made a written comment on the proxy.

q Who is soliciting my proxy?

a Your proxy is being solicited on behalf of TELUS management. The solicitation of proxies will be made either by mail to your latest address shown on the register of shareholders or by electronic mail to the e-mail address you provided. In addition to solicitation by mail, employees or agents may solicit proxies by telephone or other ways at a nominal cost to the Company. The Company may, if determined advisable, retain an agency to solicit proxies for the Company in Canada and in the United States. The cost of solicitation is paid for by the Company.

q What are the quorum requirements for the meeting and how many common shares are outstanding?

a A quorum at the meeting will consist of at least two persons present who are, or represent by proxy, holders of common shares holding in the aggregate at least 20 per cent of the issued and outstanding shares entitled to be voted at the meeting. On March 10, 2006, the Company had 183,329,413 common shares issued and outstanding.

q Does any shareholder beneficially own 10 per cent or more of the common shares that are outstanding?

a No. To the knowledge of the directors and senior officers of TELUS, on March 10, 2006, no persons beneficially own, directly or indirectly, or exercise control or direction over, common shares carrying more than 10 per cent of the voting rights attached to all common shares entitled to be voted at the meeting.

Restriction on ownership of shares

The Canadian Telecommunications Common Carrier Ownership and Control Regulations (the “Telecommunications regulations”) and the Telecommunications Act (Canada) (the “Telecommunications Act”), contain restrictions relating to the holding of voting shares by non-Canadians. To maintain the eligibility of certain of its subsidiaries that are Canadian common carriers under the Telecommunications Act, the level of non-Canadian ownership of the common shares cannot exceed 33 $\frac{1}{3}$ per cent and the Company must not be otherwise controlled by non-Canadians. The Telecommunications regulations give carrier-holding corporations of Canadian common carriers certain powers to monitor and control the level of non-Canadian ownership of voting shares. As a carrier-holding corporation, the powers and constraints of the Telecommunications regulations have been incorporated into the Articles of the Company. The powers include the right to: refuse to register a transfer of voting shares to a non-Canadian; require a non-Canadian to sell any voting shares; convert voting shares to non-voting shares; and suspend the voting rights attached to the voting shares. The Company monitors the level of non-Canadian ownership of its common shares and periodically reports thereon to the Canadian Radio-television and Telecommunications Commission.

Certain subsidiaries of the Company also hold radio licences under the Radiocommunication Act (Canada) (the “Radio-communication Act”), which are necessary to provide wireless telecommunication services, and broadcasting distribution licences under the Broadcasting Act (the “Broadcasting Act”), which are necessary to offer digital television services.

Both the Radiocommunication Act and the Broadcasting Act impose limitations on foreign ownership, similar to those found under the Telecommunications Act, by restricting the number of voting shares of the Company that may be held by non-Canadians. Following approval from the shareholders in 2005, the Company amended its Articles to ensure that the special rights and restrictions relating to foreign ownership compliance under the Telecommunications Act attaching to the common shares and the non-voting shares were extended to ensure similar compliance under both the Radiocommunication Act and the Broadcasting Act.

Non-voting shares

Subject to the prior rights of the holders of first preferred shares and second preferred shares of the Company, holders of non-voting shares are entitled to participate equally with the holders of common shares with respect to the payment of dividends and the distribution of assets of the Company on the liquidation, dissolution or winding up of the Company. The non-voting shares cannot be subdivided, consolidated, reclassified or otherwise changed unless the common shares are changed in the same manner.

Generally, the holders of non-voting shares are entitled to receive notice of, attend and be heard at all general meetings of the Company and are entitled to receive all notices of meeting, information circulars and other written information from the Company that the holders of common shares are entitled to receive from the Company, but are not entitled to vote at such general meetings unless otherwise required by law. To ensure that the holders of non-voting shares can participate in any offer made to holders of common shares (but that is not made to the holders of non-voting shares on the same terms), the offer must, by reason of applicable securities legislation or the requirements of the stock exchanges on which the common shares are listed, be made to all or substantially all the holders of common shares who are in any province of Canada to which such requirements apply (an “exclusionary offer”). Each holder of non-voting shares will, for the purposes of the exclusionary offer only, be permitted to convert all or part of the non-voting shares held into an equivalent number of common shares during the applicable conversion period. In certain circumstances (namely, the delivery of certificates, at specified times, by holders of 50 per cent or more of the issued and outstanding common shares to the effect that they will not, among other things, tender to such exclusionary offer or make an exclusionary offer), these conversion rights will not come into effect.

If the Telecommunications Act, the Radiocommunication Act, and the Broadcasting Act and the regulations thereunder relating to ownership and control are changed so that there is no restriction on non-Canadians holding common shares, holders of non-voting shares will have the right to convert all or part of their non-voting shares into common shares on a one-for-one basis. The Company will have the right to require holders of non-voting shares who do not make such an election to convert such non-voting shares into an equivalent number of common shares.

business of the meeting

1 report of management and consolidated financial report

The report of management and the audited Consolidated financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2005, including Management's discussion and analysis ("MD&A"), are contained in the 2005 annual report – financial review of the Company. Shareholders who have requested a copy of the 2005 annual report will receive it by mail. If you did not request a copy, you may view the annual report online at telus.com/annualreport or obtain one upon request to TELUS' Corporate Secretary at 21 – 3777 Kingsway, Burnaby, British Columbia, V5H 3Z7.

2 election of directors

General

All of the directors, with the exception of Pierre Y. Ducros, were elected by the holders of common shares on May 4, 2005. Mr. Ducros was appointed to the Board on September 26, 2005.

The Board has fixed the number of directors at 12. Accordingly, at the meeting, shareholders will be asked to vote for the 12 nominees proposed by the Company for election as directors of the Company. Unless otherwise instructed, the persons named in the accompanying proxy as proxyholders (the "management proxyholders") intend to vote for the election of all 12 nominees whose names are set forth on pages 8 to 10.

At the annual and special and class meetings of the Company held in May 2005, shareholders approved an amendment to the Company's Articles to remove cumulative voting and add a new section to the Articles to permit holders of common shares to vote for directors by a separate resolution for each director. Accordingly, at this meeting, each holder of common shares will be entitled to cast their votes for, or withhold their votes from, the election of each director.

Management believes that all nominees are able to serve as directors. If, prior to the meeting, any nominee is unable or unwilling to serve, the management proxyholders, unless directed to withhold the common shares from voting for the election of directors, reserve the right to vote for another nominee or nominees in their discretion if additional nominations were made at the meeting. Unless his or her office is vacated in accordance with applicable law or the Articles of the Company, each director elected at the meeting will hold office until the next annual meeting or until his or her successor is elected or appointed.

3 appointment of auditors

In 2002, upon the recommendation of the Audit Committee, the Board of Directors appointed Deloitte & Touche LLP to fill the vacancy which resulted from the Company's then current auditors, Arthur Andersen LLP, ceasing to practice public accounting in Canada. Deloitte & Touche LLP were re-appointed auditors of the Company on May 4, 2005 at the annual and special and class meetings of the Company.

Upon the recommendation of the Audit Committee, holders of common shares will be asked at the meeting to approve the appointment of Deloitte & Touche LLP as auditors and authorize the directors to fix the remuneration of the auditors. mandate and report of the pension committee

The mandate of the Pension Committee is to oversee the administration, financial reporting and investment activities of the Pension Plan for Management and Professional Employees of TELUS Corporation, the TELUS Defined Contribution Pension Plan, the TELUS Edmonton Pension Plan, the TELUS Corporation Pension Plan, the TELUS Corporation Pension Plan for Employees of TELUS Communications (Québec) Inc., any successor plans and related supplemental retirement arrangements as mandated by the Board, and the related trust funds (the "Pension Plans"). The powers delegated to the Pension Committee in its mandate are subject to those instances where powers and duties are specifically assigned to third parties in the Pension Plan documents themselves. The Pension Committee is responsible for reporting to the Board with respect to the actuarial soundness of the Pension Plans, the administrative aspects of the Pension Plans, investment policy, performance of the investment portfolios and compliance with government legislation. The Pension Committee may, from time to time, recommend to the Board changes to the Pension Plans and their administration.

Membership

The current members of the Pension Committee, R. John Butler (Chair), Brian A. Canfield, Ron P. Triffo and Donald P. Woodley, were appointed on February 16, 2005 and reappointed on February 15, 2006. All members of the Pension Committee are independent.

Meetings

The Pension Committee meets at least once each quarter and reports its activities to the Board. At each regularly scheduled quarterly meeting, the Pension Committee meets in-camera, without management present. The Pension Committee also meets with Pension Plan auditors without management present. The Pension Committee met four times in 2005.

Highlights

TELUS Defined Contribution Pension Plan review

The Pension Committee completed a comprehensive review of the defined contribution pension plans. The review was conducted by management with the assistance of an external consultant. The review resulted in the streamlining of investment fund choices and the negotiation of lower plan fees for members of the plan. The review also established that TELUS defined contribution plans were in compliance with the new guidelines of the Canadian Association of Pension Supervisory Authorities, which came into effect as of January 1, 2006. As of January 1, 2006, the Pension Plan for Management and Professional Employees of TELUS Corporation was closed to new entrants. Existing members of this defined benefit plan will continue to have the option of converting to the TELUS Defined Contribution Pension Plan.

Pension administration

The Pension Committee requisitioned a review of the pension administration processes associated with the Pension Plans. TELUS management performed the review and recommended the alignment of pension payment and administration processes for all of the Pension Plans. As a result, TELUS outsourced pension payments for approximately 10,000 pensioners during 2005.

Currency manager mandate

The Pension Committee previously directed a comprehensive asset and liability study during 2004, which was completed by management with the assistance of external consultants. While the study indicated that the investment policies developed by the Pension Committee to guide investment management were appropriate (see Note 18 of TELUS' 2005 Consolidated financial statements), the study also identified a further opportunity to reduce investment risk and potentially increase returns by actively managing the currency exposure arising from foreign investments. During 2005, two currency managers were appointed to actively manage the currency exposure in the defined benefit pension plans.

With the elimination of the foreign property limits, management evaluated the use of a synthetic foreign equity mandate being used to ensure that foreign property exposure remained below the limit. On the basis of the analysis, the existing mandate was replaced by an enhanced index mandate.

mandate and report of the pension committee continued

Plan management and governance

In accordance with its mandate, the Pension Committee approved the appointments of auditors, actuaries, custodians, legal counsel and investment managers, as needed. As well, the Pension Committee received, reviewed and approved where mandated, the following:

- an annual report, including annual financial statements and audit reports prepared by the external auditors for all Pension Plans that fall within the Pension Committee's mandate;
- an audit scope report;
- regular briefings regarding legal matters that affect the Pension Plans;
- reports from each Pension Plan's actuaries, including the assumptions and the results;
- plan budgets, including Pension Plan expenses and peer plan results;
- quarterly and annual investment results;
- plan insurance coverage;
- management self-assessment of internal controls;
- reports confirming compliance with pension plan ethical standards, investment policies and procedures, derivative policies and legislation;

- surveys and reports concerning pension governance best practices;

Report on executive compensation

One of the Compensation Committee's roles is to design a compensation arrangement for the Company's executive leadership team that supports its business strategy to enhance the growth and profitability of the Company and allow the Company to attract and retain the key talent necessary to achieve the business objectives of the Company, as approved by the Board.

Compensation objectives and principles

The Compensation Committee has approved a performance management philosophy that creates a clear and direct linkage between compensation and the achievement of business objectives in the short-term, medium-term and long-term by providing appropriate components of fixed compensation, compensation at risk, and future income. The Compensation Committee is a strong proponent of linking compensation directly to the achievement of business objectives.

Each executive leadership team member is evaluated using the following assessment tools:

- personal value-add assessment model ("PVAAM");
- individual, business unit and corporate balanced scorecards; and
- strategic staffing model.

PVAAM is used to assess and rate an executive leadership team member's achievement of results, leadership skills, retention risk and value to achieving strategy. These ratings, in conjunction with competitive market compensation data and the balanced scorecard results, are used to determine an executive leadership team member's base pay, annual variable pay, restricted stock unit allocations and share option grants.

mandate and report of the human resources and compensation committee continued

The strategic staffing model is a comprehensive assessment tool used to assess each executive leadership team member's development and is relied on to design and regularly update succession plans for executive positions.

Benchmarking

The Compensation Committee has adopted a market-based approach to ensure that the Company provides competitive compensation. The Compensation Committee relates total compensation levels for the executives to the compensation paid to executives of other Canadian telecommunications companies as well as executives of companies in the general Canadian industry with revenue similar to that of the Company, as approved by the Compensation Committee.

Total compensation is generally targeted to be at the 75th percentile of the comparator group described above, if performance warrants. The Compensation Committee also considers other elements of an executive's total compensation including health and welfare benefits, retirement programs and perquisites.

In establishing the appropriate compensation levels, the Compensation Committee engages and receives expert advice from outside consultants who conduct surveys and provide competitive data. The Compensation Committee also considers recommendations from management.

Compensation mix

The key elements of the Company's executive compensation program are base salary and at-risk compensation, which comprises annual variable pay, medium-term incentives and long-term incentives.

Base salary

In accordance with its market-based approach, the Compensation Committee has targeted base salaries of the executive leadership team to be at approximately the 50th percentile of the comparator group. Individual base salaries are adjusted by the Compensation Committee to recognize varying levels of responsibility, prior experience, breadth of knowledge, overall individual performance and internal equity, as well as the pay practices of companies in the comparator group.

At-risk incentive pay

The target at-risk incentive pay for executives is 75 per cent of total compensation for the executive leadership team overall. The Company adopts three strategies for at-risk incentive pay:

1. Annual variable pay plan

This annual plan implements the Company's pay-for-performance philosophy by providing executives with direct financial incentive in the form of an annual cash award based on the achievement of corporate, strategic business unit and individual performance goals. Targets to determine when these goals have been met are set out in the corporate balanced scorecard and strategic business unit balanced scorecards, and the executives' personal performance objectives. The actual achievement of annual business plans as reflected through performance measurement and quantifiable goals ultimately determine the annual variable compensation received.

Results at less than target would result in a reduced or zero award.

All corporate and strategic business unit scorecard objectives were tied to the six strategic imperatives of TELUS, which are as follows:

- building national capabilities across data, Internet protocol (IP), voice and wireless;
- providing integrated solutions that differentiate TELUS from our competitors;
- partnering, acquiring and divesting to accelerate the implementation of our strategy and focus our resources on core business;
- focusing relentlessly on the growth markets of data, IP and wireless;
- going to market as one team, under a common brand, executing a single strategy; and
- investing in internal capabilities to build a high-performance culture and efficient operation.

The specific measures developed each year for the scorecard must also be readily quantifiable, easily measured by the Company's information systems, auditable, and balance year-over-year consistency with the Company's annual strategic direction. Balanced scorecard targets were also set for each strategic business unit.

The weighting given to corporate results, strategic business unit (“SBU”) results and personal results for each executive leadership team member is set out in the following table:

Position	Component weighting					Target award
	Corporate results	SBU results	Average SBU results	Average customer-facing SBU results	Personal results	Percentage of base salary
President and CEO	30%	–	20%	30%	20%	50%
EVP – Customer-facing SBU	50%	30%	–	–	20%	50%
EVP – Business-enabling SBU	30%	20%	–	30%	20%	50%

The award for the executive vice-president of a business-enabling strategic business unit such as Finance or Human Resources, is based in part on the success of the Company’s customer-facing strategic business units to ensure direct line of sight to the achievement of customer-facing business unit objectives. The award for the President and CEO is based in part on the average results of all the strategic business units.

The personal performance of each member of the executive leadership team (other than the President and CEO) is assessed by the President and CEO, and the performance of the President and CEO is assessed by the Compensation Committee. The personal performance scorecard component is then determined based on the ratings set out in the following table:

Personal performance
Rating	Performance rating	Multiplier
Not meeting	2 – 3	0.0
Partially meeting	4	0.3
	5	0.5
Fully meeting	6	0.8
	7	1.1
Exceeding	8	1.4
	9	1.7
Significantly exceeding	10	2.0+

This approach ensures that payouts reflect performance levels and require truly outstanding results to deliver multipliers greater than 1.0.

2. Medium-term incentives

The Executive Stock Unit Plan (“ESU Plan”) is a medium-term incentive plan that was implemented in 2002 for executive leadership team members and expanded in 2004 to include designated senior management team members. The purpose of this plan is to link a portion of the at-risk compensation to both the achievement of performance targets and total shareholder return, and to promote the retention of executives. Under the ESU Plan, participants are allocated restricted stock units (“ESUs”). The amount and terms of any allocation to executive leadership team members are approved by the Compensation Committee annually.

Generally, the number of ESUs allocated to an executive is based both on the achievement by the executive of performance targets and the share price performance of non-voting shares during the plan year. Each ESU is equal in value to the price of one non-voting share calculated in the manner provided in the plan. When dividends on non-voting shares are paid during the life of an ESU, a participant receives an equivalent credit that is converted to additional ESUs in the participant’s account. These dividend equivalents do not vest unless the ESUs vest.

Unless otherwise determined with respect to any particular allocation, the number of ESUs allocated to a participant is determined by applying the actual performance results against a target that is based on a percentage of the participant’s salary, then dividing by the value of the non-voting shares at the beginning or end of the performance year (being the year preceding the year of allocation), whichever is higher. This link, under the ESU Plan, to the share price of non-voting shares further aligns the interests of the recipients with the interests of shareholders. In this manner, any decline in the price of non-voting shares of the Company over the performance year directly reduces the value of the participant’s incentive compensation, despite the fact that performance goals for the grants have been met.

Retention is promoted through the vesting of ESUs. ESUs allocated under the ESU Plan vest and become payable in equal annual instalments over approximately a three-year period, with all ESUs being paid out before the end of the second year after the year of allocation. If the participant resigns during this period, all unvested ESUs are forfeited. The value of the ESUs at payout is based on the value of non-voting shares at that time, calculated as required by the ESU Plan. In this manner, the price of non-voting shares of the Company directly impacts the value of the participant's incentive compensation at payout. Payments under the ESU Plan may be in cash or non-voting shares purchased in the market or, subject to all necessary corporate and regulatory approvals, in non-voting shares issued from treasury.

3. Long-term incentives

Long-term incentives are provided under the TELUS Management Share Option Plan (formerly TELUS Share Option and Compensation Plan), and the Restricted Stock Unit Plan which was introduced in 2003. The purpose of these plans is to align the interests of executives with those of shareholders and to provide incentive compensation based on the value of non-voting shares. This strategy provides an opportunity for executives to acquire, through share options and restricted stock units ("RSUs"), an increased proprietary interest in the Company.

The amount and terms of any long-term incentive compensation determined by the Compensation Committee will be consistent with the overall compensation philosophy and objectives as set out above. As noted previously, long-term incentive compensation is based on two main factors: competitive market compensation considerations and each executive leadership team member's PVAAM ratings. The resulting assessment has a direct bearing on the long-term incentive awards. Prior equity grants are not taken into account in determining whether and, if so, how many new grants would be granted.

Share options are granted at an exercise price not less than the market value of the non-voting shares on the last business day before the grant date as determined pursuant to the plan. The Compensation Committee recommends to the Board the vesting schedule and the term of the share options. If no recommendation is made, then the share options will vest on the third anniversary of the grant and have a term of seven years. The term of the share options may not exceed 10 years. Share options may not be transferred or assigned by a participant.

Similar to the ESUs allocated under the ESU Plan, all RSUs allocated annually under the RSU Plan must be paid out before the end of the second year after the year of allocation. Each RSU is equal in value to the price of one non-voting share calculated as provided in the RSU Plan. When dividends on non-voting shares are paid during the life of an RSU, a participant receives an equivalent credit which is converted to additional RSUs in the participant's account. These dividend equivalents do not vest unless the RSUs vest. The value of the RSUs at payout is based on the value of non-voting shares at that time, calculated in the manner required by the RSU Plan. In this manner, the price of non-voting shares of the Company directly impacts the value of the participant's incentive compensation at payout. Payments under the RSU Plan may be in cash or in non-voting shares purchased in the market, or, subject to all necessary corporate and regulatory approvals, in non-voting shares issued from treasury. The Compensation Committee has the right to determine the vesting of each RSU allocation under the RSU Plan.

2005 performance

For 2005, the Compensation Committee has continued with a rigorous, comprehensive and holistic approach towards the assessment of the performance of the executive leadership team applying the principles described above.

This philosophy results in a high focus on performance driving pay with base salary comprising only 25 per cent of total compensation for the executive team overall for 2005.

Base salary

For 2005, four of the named executives received base salary increases (none received base salary increases in 2004 while a member of the executive leadership team) and the fifth received an increase on his appointment to the executive leadership team during 2005.

At-risk incentive pay

Upon application of the Company's philosophy, the target at-risk incentive pay for executives is 75 per cent of total compensation for the executive leadership team overall. The at-risk incentive pay has three components:

1. Annual variable pay plan

Each year specific targets are established using a balanced scorecard approach for the Company as a whole and for each business unit.

For 2005, the corporate scorecard targets were tied to profitable growth, customer excellence, business efficiency and effectiveness, and team engagement. The profitable growth metrics (35 per cent) were made up of TELUS wireline external revenue, TELUS wireless network revenue, strategic initiative revenue, free cash flow (after restructuring payment and before cash dividends) and earnings per share (from continuing operations). Customer metrics (35 per cent) included TELUS wireless churn rate, high-speed Internet subscriber churn (wireline), gross wireless subscriber additions, network access line loss (wireline) and customer loyalty and satisfaction indices. Business efficiency metrics (20 per cent) consisted of earnings before interest and taxes or "EBIT" (before restructuring costs) for the wireline operations and EBIT for the wireless operations. Lastly, team engagement (10 per cent) was to be measured based on a survey of all team members.

As a result of the work stoppage in 2005, it was not possible to survey team engagement. The Compensation Committee determined that it would be more appropriate to remove the team engagement measure from the 2005 corporate scorecard to ensure that the scorecard remains objective and accurate. Accordingly, for 2005 only, the corporate scorecard result was calculated without that metric.

Similarly, the Compensation Committee has determined that it would be difficult to apply the 2005 business unit scorecard results to accurately measure efforts of team members within business units that were impacted by the 2005 work stoppage in western Canada, where managers were largely reassigned to perform bargaining unit work either within or outside their business units. Accordingly, for 2005 only, the Committee approved the adoption of the corporate scorecard result as the business unit result for affected business units. This change was applied to all team members including executive management. For team members in the wireless operations and TELUS Québec, the actual business unit scorecard result was used in calculating variable pay.

For 2005, the overall annual variable pay plan results for the executive leadership team members averaged 104 per cent of target. The corporate balanced scorecard component of their variable plan was 97 per cent of target. Comparing the 2005 actual results against comparable 2004 corporate scorecard measures would have resulted in a variable pay plan payout of 110 per cent for that component. This is reflective of increased performance expectations that are the foundation to the pay for performance philosophy, resulting in stretch targets being established for the 2005 corporate scorecard.

Following is a description of some of the results achieved in respect of the various metrics comprising the 2005 corporate balanced scorecard:

Profitable growth

Overall TELUS achieved strong results.

TELUS exceeded its targets with respect to:

- wireless network revenue, deriving from continued strong wireless performance at TELUS;
- free cash flow resulting from reduced capital expenditures arising from the labour dispute, and favourable tax settlements; and
- earnings per share reflecting strong wireless results and favourable tax settlements

Two metrics were below target:

- wireline segment external revenue, but was still within the range for a payout for this metric; and
- strategic initiative revenue, with results marginally below target

Customer excellence

Results were mixed in part due to increased competition and the impact of the labour dispute.

Targets were exceeded for two metrics:

- wireless gross subscriber additions, again reflecting strong wireless performance at TELUS; and
- high-speed Internet subscriber churn (wireline)

Three metrics were below target but still within payout ranges:

- wireless client churn, reflecting an increasingly competitive marketplace;
- customer service results, which slipped with the labour disruption in the second half of the year; and
- the loyalty index

Two metrics were below threshold target:

- wireline network access line loss, driven by the emergence of cable company competition in the local marketplace and the impact of the labour disruption; and
- quality performance

mandate and report of the human resources and compensation committee continued

Business efficiency and effectiveness

- wireline EBIT before restructuring costs was below threshold target due to costs associated with the labour disruption; and
- wireless EBIT exceeded target due to strong revenue performance

TELUS team

- as noted above, a team engagement survey could not be conducted due to labour disruption and the Compensation Committee removed this metric from the calculation of the overall multiplier for the 2005 year only.

To determine the personal performance component of the incentive award to each executive vice-president, the President and CEO evaluated their achievements under PVAAM, and recommended to the Compensation Committee the total annual incentive award for each executive vice-president. The Compensation Committee then reviewed and determined their annual incentive payments. For 2005 only, the Compensation Committee determined that a common personal multiplier should be applied to most of the executive vice-presidents in recognition of their shared responsibilities on some of the most significant Company objectives.

TELUS Performance Comparisons

Compensation Committee considered other performance results achieved by the Company, in 2005 and over a five-year period, that benefited shareholders. TELUS produced top-quartile financial growth results among global telecom peers for the third year in a row. TELUS is also generating strong cash flow that yielded initiatives to return capital to investors in the form of substantial dividend increases and programs to repurchase TELUS shares, as well as a significant early debt retirement. An investment in TELUS common shares significantly outperformed an investment in global telecom stocks on average by 83 per cent over the last five years.

2. Medium-term incentives

In 2005, the Compensation Committee continued with the ESU Plan. The number of ESUs granted for 2005 to each executive leadership team member was calculated based on the individual's annual incentive award and the share price performance of non-voting shares during 2005 as described previously. Each award was determined and approved by the Compensation Committee. The value of ESUs allocated in 2006 for 2005 performance was $46.28 per ESU and was calculated based on the trading price of the non-voting shares for the 15 trading days preceding December 31, 2005, which was higher than the price for the 15 trading days preceding January 1, 2005.

3. Long-term incentives

Overall, the Compensation Committee recommended and the Board of Directors approved long-term incentives that represented 50 per cent of total compensation for the executive team in 2005. To provide a more appropriate mix of long-term incentives, the February 2006 long-term incentive compensation grant was split between share options and RSUs under the RSU Plan. This split represents an approximate allocation of one-half options and one-half RSUs to the executive leadership team (excluding the President and CEO) on a collective basis, based on an estimated after tax equivalency between the value of the RSUs and the value of the options to be granted, using a Black-Scholes valuation. To strengthen retention, the options granted in February 2006 will cliff-vest three years from the grant date and the RSUs will, in most instances, vest at or near the end of the second year after the year of allocation. The term of these stock options granted in 2006 is seven years.

Applying the methodology described above, the award to each executive leadership team member was based on the executive's PVAAM ratings.

In conjunction with the merger between the Company's wireline and wireless operations announced in November of 2005, the Compensation Committee recommended to the Board of Directors, who then approved, a one-time long-term incentive grant of RSUs and stock options to certain members of the executive leadership team to further enable the retention of these key team members, provide for an increased level of team stability and to ensure a high level of contribution and commitment towards the long-term success of TELUS' strategy. The combination of RSUs and stock options granted under this program will vest over 2008, 2009 and 2010 for grants made in 2005 and over 2008, 2010 and 2011 for grants made in 2006. The stock options have a term of seven years.

Compensation of President and CEO

The principles used for determining the compensation of the President and CEO, Darren Entwistle, were identical to those established for the other executives, other than as noted previously or in this section.

The President and CEO's base salary, which was increased mid-year 2003, was not increased in 2004 and remained below median. It was increased in 2005 but his 2005 base salary still remained below the median.

Given his already significant ownership in TELUS shares, the Compensation Committee recommended and the Board of Directors approved an all-cash annual and medium-term variable pay award to the President and CEO for 2005 performance, and accordingly, no ESUs were awarded to him.

The Compensation Committee also recommended and the Board of Directors approved in February 2006 a one-time long-term incentive grant of RSUs and stock options to the President and CEO in recognition of his accomplishments and contributions since joining TELUS, and to provide for an increased level of team stability and ensure a high level of contribution and commitment towards the long-term success of TELUS' strategy. The combination of RSUs and stock options granted under this program will vest over 2008, 2010 and 2011.

Share ownership guidelines

Share ownership guidelines were introduced for the executive leadership team members in 2002 to provide a further link between the interest of executives and shareholders, thereby demonstrating the ongoing alignment of executives' interests with the interests of shareholders.

First established in 2002, the current share ownership targets are three times annual base salary for the President and CEO and two times annual base salary for the executive vice-presidents.

The share ownership targets must be met over a five-year period and can include a mix of common and non-voting shares and ESUs and RSUs. Most executive leadership team members already have significant shareholdings and all have exceeded these target levels, even those newly appointed to the executive leadership team.

Executive shareholdings summary table

The following table provides information concerning total TELUS shareholdings held by each named executive (as set out in the executive compensation summary table on page 28), dollar value of shareholdings and share ownership level (based on dollar value) to base salary ratio, as at December 31, 2005 (see share ownership guidelines above).

Name	TELUS shareholdings (common shares/ non-voting shares/ESUs for non-voting shares/ RSUs for non-voting shares) ⁽¹⁾	Dollar value of shareholdings ($) ⁽²⁾	Share ownership level as a multiple of base salary

John Watson	429/-/5,155/31,164	1,715,540	4.3

(1) Excludes any TELUS non-voting shares that may be acquired by an executive in 2006 in payment of ESUs that vested in 2005.

(2) At the close of trading on December 31, 2005 the market price of common shares was $47.86 and the market price of the non-voting shares was $46.67.

Conclusion

The Compensation Committee believes that the various components of compensation are appropriately balanced to provide direction and motivation for the executive leadership team to make a positive contribution to the Company's overall success, thereby enhancing the value of the Company for its shareholders.

 (2) Except as noted, the value of perquisites and other personal benefits received by the named executives is no greater than the lesser of $50,000 and 10 per cent of annual salary and bonus of the respective named executives.
 (3) Annual option grants under the TELUS Management Share Option Plan awarded to the named executives in relation to the 2005 financial year were approved by the Compensation Committee and the Board on February 14 and 15, 2006. Option grants were also approved in November 2005 and made in either 2005 or 2006 with respect to the wireline-wireless merger, and in February 2006 with respect to the recognition award for the President and CEO.

- (5) The annual ESU/RSU allocations in the Summary Compensation Table are made in February of the following year. Therefore, the annual grants shown for 2005 were made in February 2006. The allocations made in respect of the wireline-wireless merger were approved and granted in either 2005 or 2006 (all numbers include accumulated dividend equivalents), and the allocation for CEO recognition was approved and granted in February 2006.

- (7) Payment in lieu of accrued but unused vacation.
- (8) Deemed interest as a result of an interest-free repayable Company loan. Loan fully repaid on November 23, 2003.
- (9) Bonus paid in recognition of overall accomplishments during the year.
- (10) Joe Natale joined the Executive Leadership Team on June 23, 2003 and John Watson joined on April 12, 2005.
- (11) Bonus paid upon appointment to the Executive Leadership Team.

Options granted for the most recently completed financial year

As noted previously, in order to provide a more appropriate mix of long-term and medium-term incentives, the February 2006 grant was split between share options and RSUs. This split represents an approximate allocation of one-half options and one-half RSUs among the executive leadership team (other than the President and CEO) on a collective basis using a Black-Scholes valuation. In addition, in order to strengthen retention the options and RSUs granted in February 2006 will in most instances cliff-vest at or near the end of a three-year period.

In order to provide comprehensive and up-to-date information, the Company has set forth in the table below option grants made in the current year. Accordingly, the following option grants to the named executives were approved in November 2005 and made in either 2005 or 2006 respecting the wireline-wireless merger, and in February 2006 with respect to 2005 performance and the one-time recognition award to the President and CEO described earlier.

TELUS Pension Plan

The TELUS Supplementary Retirement Arrangement (“SRA”) establishes an overall retirement income benefit, which provides supplemental pension benefits to be paid to a retired executive in addition to the pension income under the existing registered company pension plans.

Named executives, other than John Watson, participate in the Company’s contributory registered pension plans. The SRA for the participating named executives supplements these plans by providing a total benefit at retirement determined as two per cent of a person’s highest consecutive three years’ average pensionable remuneration times the total number of years of credited service to a maximum of 35. Pensionable remuneration is base salary increased by a fixed 50 per cent for annual variable compensation to the participating named executives other than the President and CEO, and by 60 per cent for the President and CEO.

The following table shows the total of the annual retirement benefits, payable from both the SRA and registered pension plans, assuming retirement at age 60 or over:

The years of credited service as of December 31, 2005 for pension plan purposes for the participating named executives are as follows: Darren Entwistle, five years and six months; Robert McFarlane, six years and two months; Joe Natale, two years and six months; and Joe Grech, ten years and three months. Mr. Grech accrued an additional five years of pensionable service during his first five years of employment. Mr. McFarlane is accruing two years of pensionable service for each year from January 1, 2005 to January 1, 2010.

The following estimated pension service costs, accrued pension obligations and annual pension benefits under the Company's pension plans are being disclosed by the Company on a voluntary basis.

Joe Natale	155,000	386,000	326,800
Joe Grech	123,000	1,264,000	321,000

(1) Amounts shown include pension benefits under the Company's registered pension plan and Supplemental Retirement Arrangement.

(2) Service cost is the value of the projected pension earned for pensionable service in 2006. The value has been determined using the same actuarial assumptions as those used to determine the year-end pension plan obligations disclosed in the notes to the 2005 Consolidated financial statements. With respect to Mr. McFarlane, the service cost is the cost in 2006 for two years of pensionable service credit.

(3) Accrued obligations are the actuarial value of projected obligations for service to December 31, 2005. The value has been determined using the same actuarial assumptions as those used to determine the year-end pension plan liabilities disclosed in the notes to the 2005 Consolidated financial statements.

(4) Amounts in this column are based on 2006 compensation levels and assume accrued years of service to age 60 for each of the named executives.

Employment agreements

TELUS is a party to executive employment agreements for an indefinite term with each of the named executives. The agreements provide that if the employment of the executive were terminated at any time other than for just cause or by reason of death, disability or retirement ("without cause"), the executive will be paid a severance payment, receive continued benefit coverage and be credited with continued accrual of pensionable service as follows: for Darren Entwistle, Robert McFarlane and Joseph Grech – severance equal to two times annual compensation and two years of benefit continuation and pension credit; for Joe Natale – severance equal to one and one half times annual compensation and eighteen months of benefit continuation and pension credit; and for John Watson – severance equal to one and one half times annual compensation and eighteen months of benefit continuation. Each agreement contains a prohibition on the improper disclosure or use of confidential information and a one-year non-competition restriction after termination.

The agreement with Mr. McFarlane provides that he will be accruing two years of pensionable service under the SRA for each full year of employment from January 1, 2005 to January 1, 2010. The agreement with Mr. Grech also provided that he accrued two years of pensionable service under the SRA for each full year of employment from November 1, 2000 to November 1, 2005.

Under his agreement, Darren Entwistle received a $250,000 interest-free forgivable loan net of tax obligations at the commencement of his agreement, of which $50,000 was forgiven in each year from 2001 to 2005 inclusive (this loan has now been extinguished).

Indebtedness of directors and officers

No director or officer of the Company or proposed nominee for election as a director of the Company, or any associate thereof, is or has been indebted to the Company or its subsidiaries since January 1, 2005 except as noted in the table below. In compliance with the July 30, 2002 enactment of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act, no new personal loans to directors and executive officers were made or arranged, and no pre-existing personal loans were renewed or modified, since July 30, 2002.

(1) Interest free. Repayment in 2005 of $50,000 was offset by a Company bonus in an amount sufficient to cover the amount repaid and taxes thereon. Accordingly, this loan was fully extinguished in 2005.

The Company from time to time has notional indebtedness outstanding for brief periods from non-executive team members with respect to the cashless exercise of their options.

Securities authorized for issuance under Equity Compensation Plans

The Company has a number of equity compensation plans, but the only continuing equity compensation plan of the Company under which equity shares may be issued from treasury on the exercise of options is the TELUS Management Share Option Plan.

Options remain outstanding under the Directors Share Option and Compensation Plan. But as reported below, the Board discontinued the option program for directors in 2003 and no further options have been granted to directors since then. This plan provides for the issuance of deferred share units to directors. In February 2005, the Board determined that all obligations to deliver non-voting shares to satisfy the payment of deferred share units under this plan will be met through market purchase and not through issuance from treasury.

Options also remain outstanding under the Team TELUS Plan. This plan was established to grant options to most employees of the Company and its subsidiaries. In 2004, this option program was completed and further option grants under this plan were discontinued.

In addition to the foregoing, there are options outstanding entitling holders to acquire equity shares of the Company under the BC TELECOM Stock Option Plan (the plan that was in place prior to the merger of predecessor Alberta-based TELUS Corporation and BC TELECOM Inc. in February 1999) and the TELUS Share Option Plan for Former Clearnet Optionholders (the plan that was put in place for employees of Clearnet Communications Inc. ("Clearnet") upon the acquisition of Clearnet by the Company in 2000). No further options are being issued under these plans.

The following table provides information as at December 31, 2005 with respect to equity shares of the Company authorized for issuance under equity compensation plans that permit the issuance from treasury of equity shares.

TELUS Management Share Option Plan

The TELUS Management Share Option Plan ("Management Plan") was amended and restated in 2005 as part of the separation of the original TELUS Share Option and Compensation Plan into the Directors Share Option and Compensation Plan and the Management Plan. The purpose of the Management Plan is to strengthen retention of key management employees, to align their interests with those of shareholders and to provide incentive compensation based on the value of non-voting shares. As at March 10, 2006, there were options outstanding under the Management Plan to purchase 1,115,466 common shares and 9,037,580 non-voting shares representing 2.9 per cent of the issued and outstanding equity shares of the Company. Of these options outstanding, 388,433 options for common shares and 1,855,728 options for non-voting shares or 22.1 per cent of the total number of options outstanding under the plans were held by insiders (as that term is defined under applicable securities law).

Options are granted under the Management Plan to eligible employees as determined by the Compensation Committee. Eligible employees are generally senior managers or key management employees and include approximately 2,870 employees of the Company and its subsidiaries. The Compensation Committee also determines the total number of options to be granted to participants. These decisions of the Compensation Committee are subject to approval by the Board of Directors of the Company. The Management Plan provides that the number of non-voting shares to be optioned to any participant under the Management Plan, together with any other equity compensation plan for employees, cannot exceed five per cent of the outstanding equity shares. In addition, a majority of the options granted under the Management Plan cannot be granted to insiders and insiders as a group are not permitted to hold options under the Management Plan that, together with options under any other equity compensation plans of the Company, exceed 10 per cent of the Company's issued and outstanding shares.

Under the Management Plan, options may be issued with vesting provisions as determined at the time of grant, and if not determined, the plan provides that options cliff-vest on the third anniversary of the date of grant. The exercise price of these options is the weighted average trading price of the non-voting shares (or common shares for options granted prior to 2001) on the last business day preceding the date of grant. The expiry date for options granted under the Management Plan can be any time up to 10 years from the date of grant. Currently, options are being granted with an expiry date of seven years from the date of grant. Options cannot be transferred or assigned by a participant.

Options expire under the Management Plan on the earliest of (i) the day of voluntary termination of employment by a participant (other than termination upon normal retirement or by reason of disability), unless otherwise extended by the Compensation Committee; (ii) 90 days after termination by the Company or a subsidiary of employment other than for just cause, unless otherwise determined by the Compensation Committee; (iii) the date of termination of employment of the participant for just cause; (iv) 12 months following the death of a participant for options vested and that vest within that period; or (v) the expiry date of the option.

For certain options outstanding on January 1, 2001, the Management Plan permits the participant to elect to receive in cash the difference between the market price of the common shares exercised less the exercise price. The Company may override the election and require that the common shares be purchased.

Pursuant to an amendment approved at the Company's annual and special and class meetings on May 4, 2005, the Management Plan provides that at the time options for shares are exercised, the Company may elect to have the options exchanged for a right of the optionholder to receive a number of non-voting shares or common shares, as the case may be, in settlement for the options so exchanged. The number of non-voting or common shares to be issued to the optionholder will be the number obtained by i) multiplying the number of options exercised by ii) the number obtained when the difference between the current market price of applicable shares under the options at the time of exercise and the exercise price for the options exercised is divided by the current market price of the applicable shares. The options so exchanged are cancelled, and the number of non-voting shares or common shares determined by the difference between the number of options exchanged and the number of non-voting shares or common shares issued in that exchange shall be added back to the reservation of non-voting shares or common shares, as the case may be, under the Management Plan.

At the same meeting, the shareholders also approved an amendment to the Plan to increase the number of non-voting shares reserved for issuance under the Plan on exercise of the options by 6,000,000.

In February 2006, the Board of Directors approved an amendment to the Plan to clarify the termination date of options for an Optionee who is terminated without just cause by the Company, where such Optionee continues into retirement. In such a case, all options held by such Optionee whether exercisable or unexercisable as at the termination date, shall be exercisable on and after at the retirement date for the remaining term of the options as granted. In accordance with the rules of the Toronto Stock Exchange and the amendment provisions of the Management Plan text noted below, shareholder approval was not required for this amendment.

The Board of Directors of the Company, subject to any regulatory or required shareholder approval, has the power under the Management Plan to amend or terminate the Management Plan at any time, provided that the amendment will not decrease the entitlements of a participant, which have accrued prior to the date of such amendment or termination. This power of amendment includes the right to amend the vesting provisions of any option and the right to extend the expiry date of an option to a date that is not beyond the original expiry date. Shareholder approval is required for any amendment to the Management Plan that is considered material including any increase in the reservation of shares, any cashless exercise or stock settlement if the shares underlying the options are added back to the reservation, any change in the exercise price of outstanding options, and any financial assistance by the Company or increase in participation by insiders.

Directors Share Option and Compensation Plan

As at March 10, 2006, options to purchase a total of 14,200 common shares and 18,900 non-voting shares or 0.01 per cent of the issued and outstanding equity shares of the Company, were outstanding under the Directors Share Option and Compensation Plan. These options have a 10-year term and an exercise price that is equal to the weighted average price of the Company's common or non-voting shares, as applicable on the trading day immediately preceding the date of grant. As previously noted, no options have been granted under this plan since 2003 and the share reservation under this plan is only sufficient to meet the exercise of the outstanding options. Options cannot be transferred or assigned by a participant other than by will or the laws of succession on devolution.

Under the terms of the Directors Share Option and Compensation Plan, options expire on the earlier of (i) 12 months after the participant ceases to be a director due to death, and (ii) the expiry date of the option, whether or not the participant has previously ceased to be a director; provided that if the participant becomes a director, officer or employee of a competitor after he or she ceases to be a TELUS director the options will immediately terminate. For options outstanding on January 1, 2002, the plan permits the participant to elect to receive in cash the difference between the market price of the common shares exercised and the exercise price. The common shares are not added back to the reservation if this election were selected. The Company may override the election and require that the common shares be issued from treasury in their entirety.

The Directors Share Option and Compensation Plan also provides that a participant may elect to receive the annual retainer and meeting fees paid to that participant in deferred share units, equity shares or cash. Deferred share units are credited to an account for a participant based on the weighted average trading price of non-voting shares (or common shares for deferred share units held prior to January 2001) on the day the fees are paid. Deferred share units held for a participant are credited with dividends paid on the Company's equity shares, and when paid out to a participant are paid at the then market price of the applicable shares, as determined under the plan. If a participant elects to be paid in equity shares, non-voting shares are acquired by the plan administrator in the open market for the participant. In February 2005, the ability of the Company to issue non-voting shares from treasury in that circumstance was cancelled.

The Board of Directors of the Company, subject to any regulatory or required shareholder approval, has the power under the Directors Plan to amend or terminate the Directors Plan at any time, provided that the amendment will not prejudice the entitlements of a participant that have accrued prior to the date of such amendment or termination. This power of amendment includes the right to amend the vesting provisions of any option and the right to extend the expiry date of an option to a date that is not beyond the original expiry date. Shareholder approval is required for any amendment to the Directors Plan that is considered material, including any increase in the reservation of shares, any cashless exercise or stock settlement if the shares underlying the options are added back to the reservation, any change in the exercise price of outstanding options, and any financial assistance by the Company.

Team TELUS Plan

In 2001, the Company established the TELUS Corporation Employee Stock Option Plan ("Team TELUS Plan"), which provided for 100 options to be granted, from time to time, under the plan to all regular, part-time, casual and temporary employees of the Company and its subsidiaries, other than those who were eligible to receive grants under the TELUS Management Share Option Plan. As at March 10, 2006, there were 3,698,500 non-voting shares, representing 1.06 per cent of the Company's issued and outstanding equity shares, to be issued upon the exercise of outstanding options under this plan. The Company has discontinued granting options under this plan.

Under the terms of the plan, all eligible employees received the same number of options. Options were granted under this plan in 2001, 2002, 2003 and 2004. Options granted under the plan have a maximum expiry date of ten years and an exercise price equal to the weighted average trading price of the Company's non-voting shares on the trading day immediately preceding the date of grant. The options vested on the second anniversary after the grant date. Options terminate on the earliest of (i) the day of any voluntary termination of employment by a participant, or the day a participant is terminated for just cause; (ii) three years after the date of normal retirement of a participant; (iii) 12 months after the date of death or disability of a participant; (iv) 90 days after termination of a participant's employment by the Company or a subsidiary, or after a subsidiary is sold by the Company; or (v) the expiry date of the options. Options cannot be transferred or assigned by a participant under the Plan. A participant may not assign any option other than by will or the laws of succession and devolution.

The Board of Directors of the Company, subject to any required regulatory or shareholder approval, has the power under the Plan to amend or terminate the Plan at any time, provided, however, that any such amendment shall not alter or impair any option previously granted, unless such amendment is not prejudicial to such participant.

TELUS Share Option Plan for Former Clearnet Optionholders (the "TELUS/Clearnet Plan")

When TELUS acquired Clearnet on October 20, 2000 (the "Effective Date"), holders of options under the Clearnet Communications Inc. Option Plan (the "Clearnet Plan") were given the right to exchange their options under that plan for options under the TELUS/Clearnet Plan.

The exercise price of the options was determined by subtracting from (a) the market price of the non-voting shares of the Company on the Effective Date, (b) the amount obtained by dividing the difference between the market price of Clearnet common shares on the Effective Date and the exercise price of the options under the Clearnet Plan, by 1.636. This exercise price reflected the exchange ratio at which TELUS acquired the common shares of Clearnet. No further options are granted under the TELUS/Clearnet Plan. The options under this plan are not assignable except by the laws of succession and devolution.

As at March 10, 2006 options to purchase 294,837 non-voting shares or 0.09 per cent of the issued and outstanding equity shares of the Company were outstanding under the TELUS/Clearnet plan. The options under the TELUS/Clearnet Plan expire on the earliest of (i) six months after the date of voluntary termination of employment by a participant or the date of termination of the participant by the Company or a subsidiary without just cause; (ii) three years following the date of normal retirement of a participant, or disability of a participant, provided it is not beyond the original expiry date; (iii) the date of termination of employment of a participant for just cause; (iv) 12 months after the death of a participant; or (v) the original expiry date of the option as granted by Clearnet (which was 10 years from the date of grant).

The Board of Directors of the Company, subject to any regulatory or required shareholder approval, has the power under the Plan to amend or terminate the Plan at any time, provided, however, that any such amendment shall not alter or impair any option previously granted, such amendment is not prejudicial to such participant.

BC TELECOM Share Option Plan and TELUS Corporation Share Option Plan

At the time of the merger, by way of a plan of arrangement of BC TELECOM Inc. and predecessor Alberta-based TELUS Corporation in February 1999 (the "Merger"), the options then existing under the BC TELECOM Share Option Plan ("BC TELECOM Plan") and the TELUS Corporation Share Option Plan ("TSOP") were converted into options to purchase common shares and non-voting shares of the Company based on the exchange ratio for BC TELECOM shares and TELUS shares pursuant to the plan of arrangement. The TSOP and the BC TELECOM Plan are together called the Pre-Merger Plans. The exercise prices under the Pre-Merger Plans were determined based on the exchange ratio and the exercise prices of the granted options under the respective plans on the effective date of the merger. No further options are issued under these plans.

Any outstanding options granted under the TSOP either expired or were exercised in 2005. As at March 10, 2006, there were options outstanding under the BC TELECOM Plan to purchase 64,271 non-voting shares and 192,795 common shares or 0.07 per cent of the issued and outstanding equity shares of the Company. These options expire at varying dates up to 2008. Under the BC TELECOM Plan, the participants hold share appreciation rights that entitle them to receive an amount in cash equal to the difference in the exercise price and the closing price of the applicable shares of the Company on the day prior to the date of exercise. To the extent participants exercise the share appreciation rights, the corresponding option is cancelled. Options and rights under the BC TELECOM Plan are exercisable on the earliest of (i) 12 months after (a) a participant retires, or (b) a participant ceases to be an officer or director of the Company, or (c) a participant's death; (ii) in all other cases other than as set out in (i), on the day a participant ceases to be an employee, unless otherwise determined by the Compensation Committee; and (iii) the expiry date of the options. All options are non-transferable.

The Board of Directors of the Company is permitted to amend the plan at any time provided that the amendment does not alter or impair any options previously granted and subject to any required regulatory approval.

Such insurance currently provides for an annual aggregate limit of $120 million USD coverage with a $1 million USD deductible; where the Company is not able to indemnify the insured persons the deductible is nil. appendix A: statement of TELUS' corporate governance practices TELUS is committed to effective and best practices in corporate governance. TELUS consistently assesses and adopts emerging best practices. In a year of continued focus on corporate governance, the following are the most noteworthy corporate governance measures taken by regulators that will impact TELUS:

- the amendments in April and June 2005 of the Investor Confidence Rules issued by the CSA ("CSA Investor Confidence rules");
- the finalization on June 17, 2005 by the CSA of Policy 58-201 Corporate Governance Guidelines ("Governance Guidelines") and National Instrument 58-101 Disclosure of Corporate Governance Practices ("Governance Disclosure Rule");
- the proposal by the CSA of Multilateral Instrument 52-111 Reporting on Internal Control over Financial Reporting;
- the repeal in 2005 by the Toronto Stock Exchange ("TSX") of the TSX governance guidelines and subsequent adoption of the Governance Disclosure Rule as its disclosure standard;
- the coming into force in Ontario on December 31, 2005 of Bill 198, which creates civil liability for secondary market disclosure; and
- the proposed revisions to section 303A of the New York Stock Exchange Governance Standards (the "NYSE Governance Rules") released in December 2005.

TELUS is in full compliance with the Governance Disclosure Rule, the Governance Guidelines and the CSA Investor Confidence rules. TELUS is also in full compliance with the NYSE Governance Rules including certain elements that are not legally required of TELUS.

TELUS is committed to transparent and comprehensive disclosure of its corporate governance practices. The Company has disclosed its corporate governance practices in relation to the TSX guidelines since the TSX adopted them in 1995, and has voluntarily disclosed its practices in relation to draft rules and guidelines that preceded the final Governance Disclosure Rule and NYSE Governance Rules. In 2005, the TSX repealed its guidelines and adopted the Governance Disclosure Rule and accordingly, TELUS now discloses its approach to governance as required by the Governance Disclosure Rule. In December 2005, the Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants recognized TELUS for excellence in corporate governance and reporting by presenting to the Company the Award of Excellence for Best Corporate Governance Disclosure across all industry sectors in Canada.

Consistent with TELUS' commitment to fulsome disclosure, TELUS regularly assesses emerging best practices and has provided voluntarily additional disclosure on its corporate governance practices that often exceeds legal requirements. The disclosure contained on the following pages follows the Governance Disclosure Rule but includes voluntary disclosure not mandated by those rules.

disclosure of TELUS' practices

Board of Directors

Independent directors

Since 2000, the TELUS Board of Directors has adopted a policy requiring that at least a majority of its Board of Directors be "independent." In determining "independence," the Board of Directors has adopted a set of criteria that goes beyond applicable securities rules. The Board has chosen to voluntarily comply with all elements of the "independence" test pronounced by the New York Stock Exchange including those that are not binding on TELUS. Accordingly, the "independence" tests applied by TELUS comply with the Governance Disclosure Rule, the CSA Investor Confidence Rules and the NYSE Governance Rules. These policies are reflected in the TELUS Board Policy Manual.

The Board applied this expanded test of independence to the relationship between each director and the Company based on information updated annually through a comprehensive questionnaire.

As Canada's second largest telecommunications company and the incumbent local exchange carrier in several provinces, the Company provides service to its directors and their family members, and to many organizations with whom the directors are associated. The Board has determined that the provision of services per se does not create a material relationship between the director and the Company. Rather, the Board examines a variety of factors including the magnitude of the service provided, the monetary and strategic value of those services to each party, the degree of dependence on such relationship by either party, and how easily a service may be replaced, in determining if any such relationship creates a material relationship. The Board considers similar factors in assessing the materiality of any relationship between the Company and any supplier or lender with whom a director is associated.

Applying the above tests and process, the Board is satisfied that, except for Darren Entwistle, there is no material relationship existing between any of the proposed directors and the Company, either directly or as a partner, shareholder or officer of an organization that has a material relationship with the Company. The Board has therefore determined that all of the proposed directors, other than Mr. Entwistle, are independent.

Additional disclosure on Board members, including their business experience and backgrounds, and the names of other reporting issuers or organizations on whose boards they serve, can be found in the Election of directors on page 7 of this information circular, the 2005 annual report – business review, and at telus.com/bios.

Non-independent directors

Mr. Entwistle is the only director who is a member of management of the Company. Mr. Entwistle is President and CEO of TELUS and consequently, is not an "independent" director pursuant to the Governance Disclosure Rule. If elected at the meeting, Mr. Entwistle will be the only director among the nominees identified in the information circular who is not an "independent" director.

Interlocking boards

Brian MacNeill and Darren Entwistle both sit on the Board of the TD Bank Financial Group.

Meetings of independent directors

As a regular feature at regularly scheduled Board meetings, the Board meets without management other than the President and CEO and the Corporate Secretary, followed by an "in-camera" session without the President and CEO or any other member of management present. The Chair presides over these in-camera sessions of the Board. Pursuant to the TELUS Board Policy Manual, the Board is also required to hold at least one annual in-camera session without non-independent directors present. In 2005, the Board held five such in-camera sessions.

Attendance records for each director can be found on page 11. Directors are expected to fully attend all Board and committee meetings.

Independent Chair of the Board

The Board has adopted a number of policies to better ensure the independence of the Board. The Chair of the Board is required to be independent. In addition, the positions of Chair and CEO must be separate. Mr. Canfield was CEO of BC TELECOM Inc., predecessor to TELUS, from October 1990 to July 1997. He also served as President and CEO of the Company from September 1999 to July 10, 2000 and, therefore, has passed the "cooling-off period" required by the Governance Disclosure Rule and the NYSE Governance Rules for establishing his "independence" from management. The Board has determined that the Chair of the Board, Mr. Canfield, is an "independent" director under the Governance Disclosure Rule and the NYSE Governance Rules.

Board mandate

The TELUS Board Policy Manual provides guidelines to the Board and was developed to assist Board members in fulfilling their obligations, both individually and collectively, and to make very explicit the expectations on the Board, Board committees, individual directors, the Chair, Board committee Chairs, and the President and CEO. The terms of reference for the Board of Directors are contained in the Manual and also attached as Appendix "B" to this information circular. A copy of the TELUS Board Policy Manual in its entirety is available at telus.com/governance.

To help the Board fulfill its duties and responsibilities, the Board delegates certain powers, duties and responsibilities to committees to ensure full review of certain matters. The terms of references of the committees set out the mandates, duties and authority of the committees, and the scope of their authority. The committees report to the Board on their activities on a regular basis.

To further delineate the responsibilities of the Board, the Board adopted a Delegations Policy in 1999 under which the Board delegates certain decisions to management. The Board last updated and revised the Delegations Policy in 2004. This policy provides guidance to the Board and management on matters requiring Board approval including major capital expenditures, acquisitions, investments or divestitures.

In 2003, the Board approved a Policy on Corporate Disclosure and Confidentiality of Information, a copy of which is available at telus.com/governance. The policy sets out the Company's policies and practices on corporate disclosure and applies to all TELUS team members, including directors, officers and employees. The policy's objectives include i) disclosing information in a timely, consistent and appropriate manner; and ii) disseminating material information pursuant to all applicable legal requirements. Material changes to the policy, as approved by the Disclosure Committee, must be reported to the Audit Committee and approved by the Board.

Position descriptions

The Board has developed a description of the role and responsibilities the Chair of the Board, and brief position descriptions for the Chair of each Board committee, all of which are described in the TELUS Board Policy Manual. The duties of the Chair include leading the Board in its management and supervision of the business and affairs of the Company, its oversight of management and promoting effective relations with shareholders.

The Board has also developed terms of reference for the President and CEO, which are described in the TELUS Board Policy Manual. The Board annually approves the Company's goals and objectives for which the President and CEO is responsible for meeting. As well, his annual performance objectives relevant to compensation, which are reviewed and approved by the Compensation Committee, supplement his mandate. The Compensation Committee evaluates the performance of the President and CEO against his annual objectives and reports back to the Board. For further details, see Mandate and Report of the Human Resources and Compensation Committee on page 20.

Orientation and continuing education

The Corporate Governance Committee reviews, approves and reports to the Board on the Directors' orientation program and plans for the ongoing development of existing Board members.

The Company's newest director, Pierre Y. Ducros, participated in an orientation that included: 1) receiving TELUS' most recent public disclosure documents, including the annual information form and the annual report, and the TELUS Board Policy Manual; and 2) attending a day-long orientation session covering topics including TELUS' organizational structure, strategy and financial plan, securities laws and TELUS' approach to corporate governance, key corporate policies including the Ethics Policy, the Insider Trading Policy and the Corporate Disclosure Policy, roles and responsibilities of directors, mandates of the Board and its committees, directors' liability and indemnification, and the TELUS Board Policy Manual.

On a regular basis, educational topics are presented at either meetings of the Board or the committees for review and discussion, and the directors are canvassed each year for topics of interest. Topics presented in 2005 included: developments in the telecommunications industry and the major players and impact on the Company; the impact of emerging technologies on the communications industry; emerging best practices in corporate governance; civil liability under Ontario's Bill 198; updates on corporate governance regulations and privacy law; emerging issues in pension governance; updates on SOX 404, including delays in implementation for non-U.S. issuers listed on U.S. exchanges and emerging guidance arising from the implementation of SOX 404 for U.S. domestic issuers; and, potential changes in federal regulations regarding income trusts.

Directors identify topics for continuing education through discussions at Board and committee meetings and through the skills self-assessment surveys, which they complete annually.

Ethical business conduct

TELUS has adopted an Ethics Policy, which applies to all TELUS team members, including directors, officers and employees of TELUS. The Ethics Policy is available at telus.com/governance. As part of the policy, TELUS created the TELUS EthicsLine, which provides the public and TELUS team members with a channel for anonymous and confidential questions or complaints on accounting, internal controls or ethical issues that are reported on a quarterly basis to the Audit Committee.

TELUS has also established an Ethics Office, which conducts investigations, provides advice on ethical dilemmas and establishes appropriate policies and guidelines on TELUS' expected standards of business conduct. The Ethics Office oversees ethics training, including an online interactive ethics course that is mandatory for all TELUS team members, and annually requires each director to review the Ethics Policy and affirm that he or she has done so.

The Audit Committee of the Board is required to review the Ethics Policy on an annual basis and recommend changes for approval to the Board as appropriate. The Audit Committee also receives quarterly reports from the Chief Internal Auditor on the results of any investigation of whistleblower, ethics and internal controls complaints. Waivers granted under the Policy must be pre-approved by the Board of Directors or their designate.

The Ethics Policy also provides guidelines on how to deal with conflicts of interest and requires disclosure of actual or potential conflicts by TELUS team members. Furthermore, under the Business Corporations Act (British Columbia) and the Company's Articles, any director or executive officer who holds any office or possesses any property, right or interest that could result in the creation of a duty or interest that materially conflicts with the individual's duty or interest as a director or executive officer of the Company, must promptly disclose the nature and extent of that conflict. A director who holds a disclosable interest in a transaction or contract into which the Company has entered or proposes to enter may not vote on any directors' resolution to approve that contract or transaction.

Nomination of directors

Upon the recommendation of the Corporate Governance Committee, the Board annually reviews the size and composition of the Board and the committees, and proposes nominees for election as directors, in accordance with the TELUS Board Policy Manual, to advance the objective of forming an effective-functioning Board that presents a diversity of views and business experience.

The Corporate Governance Committee, which is comprised entirely of "independent" directors, is also responsible for assessing and making recommendations regarding Board effectiveness and establishing a process for identifying, recruiting, nominating and appointing new directors. The terms of reference for the Corporate Governance Committee are set out at telus.com/governance. For a summary of the responsibilities, powers and operation of the Corporate Governance Committee see Mandate and report of the Corporate Governance Committee on page 13.

In 2005, the Corporate Governance Committee assessed and recommended to the Board an increase in the size of the Board from 11 to 12 in order to increase representation from the province of Quebec, an important market to the Company. After an extensive director search, Mr. Ducros was appointed to the Board of Directors.

The steps taken to find the 12th director illustrate the process followed by the Board to identify and select new candidates for Board nomination. The Corporate Governance Committee followed the process outlined in the TELUS Board Policy Manual considering, among other things, the strategic imperatives for the Company, the attributes and experience that would best enhance the Company's business plan and strategies, the skills and competencies of the current directors, and the existence of any gaps in Board skills as a whole, as identified through Board and director evaluations and skills self-assessments. Through this process, the Chair of the Board and the President and CEO were consulted. A list of most desirable attributes, including track record of business success and relevant industry experience, was formulated. An external search firm was retained to assist in the identification and qualification of candidates. To further encourage an objective process, the search firm was asked to evaluate and rank prospective candidates based on an assessment of their accomplishments against the specified attributes. The search firm reported on its findings to the Corporate Governance Committee. Prospective candidates then met with the Chair of the Board and the President and CEO.

The Corporate Governance Committee also assessed the financial literacy and independence of the prospective candidates prior to making its recommendation to the Board.

Compensation

Officers' compensation

The Board has delegated to the Compensation Committee, which is comprised entirely of "independent" directors, the responsibility for reviewing and recommending to the Board compensation of the President and CEO, and approving the compensation of the remaining executive management.

The Compensation Committee is a proponent of linking executive compensation directly to the achievement of business objectives and has adopted a market-based approach to executive compensation to ensure that the Company provides competitive compensation.

In addition to setting executive compensation, the Compensation Committee reviews the Company's overall organizational structure for executive management, and recommends to the Board for approval the appointment of executive leadership team members. The Compensation Committee also reviews, approves and reports to the Board on an annual basis, or more frequently as required, succession plans for executive management including specific personal development plans and career planning for potential successors. For more information on the Compensation Committee's responsibilities, including the process by which it determines compensation of TELUS' executive leadership team, see the Mandate and report of the Human Resources and Compensation Committee on page 20.

Compensation consultant

The Compensation Committee engages the services of an external compensation consultant, Hewitt Associates. The mandate of the consultant is to serve TELUS and work for the Committee in its review of executive compensation practices, executive compensation design, market trends and regulatory considerations. The consultant does not recommend compensation levels. The Compensation Committee is responsible for reviewing and making all final decisions subject to necessary Board approval. The Committee has the final authority to hire and terminate the consultant, and the Committee evaluates the consultant annually. The consultant may perform other services for TELUS on the condition that the Compensation Committee is informed of any significant work outside the executive compensation role. For 2005, this work included an employee survey, flexible benefit redesign and pension redesign; the Compensation Committee has reviewed the fees paid for these other services. The individual executive compensation consultant at Hewitt Associates who advises the Compensation Committee is not permitted to be the overall account manager for TELUS and does not report to the overall account manager. The Compensation Committee approves all invoices for executive compensation work performed by the consultant.

Directors' compensation

The Corporate Governance Committee reviews and recommends to the Board the compensation and benefits of Board members. In this regard, the Committee considers factors such as market data, time commitments, fees paid by similar organizations and responsibilities of the directors. In 2003, TELUS stopped granting options to directors. In 2005, the Corporate Governance Committee initiated a review of the philosophy underlying directors' compensation with the assistance of external consultants on market data. As part of its review, the Corporate Governance Committee considered a variety of factors, including whether directors' compensation should include equity, the appropriateness of the Company's peer group for benchmarking and consistency with the Company's philosophy on executive compensation. It determined that generally, overall compensation should be targeted at (be in touch with) the 75th percentile within a comparator group of companies of comparable size and responsibility to the Company, with the cash component of the compensation targeted at the 50th percentile. Compensation should be skewed towards equity more than cash. Applying that philosophy, the Corporate Governance Committee intends to conduct the next comprehensive review of directors' compensation in 2006. If at that time, the Committee determines that a change in compensation is appropriate, the revised compensation adopted will be disclosed at telus.com/governance. The Corporate Governance Committee also recommended for approval an amendment to the TELUS Board Policy Manual to reflect its updated philosophy on directors' compensation. For details on current levels of director compensation, see Director compensation on page 14.

The Company aligns the Board's interests with the interests of shareholders by maintaining equity ownership thresholds to be attained by directors, and by choosing equity payment in the form of deferred share units in lieu of options. In February 2006, the Corporate Governance Committee recommended for approval to the Board an increase in the Chair's equity ownership threshold from $400,000 to $500,000, to be acquired within five years of joining the Board. For all other non-management directors, the minimum equity ownership was also increased from $200,000 to $300,000 to be acquired within five years of joining the Board. In addition, the Company requires that a minimum level of the annual board retainer be directed to the purchase of TELUS shares or paid in the form of deferred share units, until the target equity ownership threshold is reached. As of March 10, 2006, all of the proposed non-management directors (including the Chair) have reached or exceeded their respective minimum equity ownership level. Mr. Entwistle's holdings well exceed the higher ownership threshold required of the President and CEO. All directors' shareholdings are disclosed under the Election of directors on page 7.

Other Board committees

In addition to the Audit, Corporate Governance and Human Resources and Compensation Committees, the Board has established a Pension Committee. The Pension Committee is responsible for overseeing most of the pension plans pertaining to the Company and its subsidiaries. Its specific duties include responsibility in respect of the actuarial soundness of the Pension Plans (as defined in the Pension Committee's terms of reference), the administrative aspects of the Pension Plans, investment policy, the performance of the investment portfolios and compliance with government legislation.

All committees have the authority to retain external advisors at TELUS' expense in connection with their responsibilities. Detailed descriptions of each committee's mandate are found in this information circular on pages 13, 15, 17 and 20, while the full text of each committee's terms of reference can be found at telus.com/governance.

Assessments

The Corporate Governance Committee, in conjunction with the Chair, carries out an annual assessment of the Board and its members that is comprised of three components: a Board effectiveness survey, a peer evaluation and a skills self-assessment. In the first, directors are asked to rate the effectiveness of the Board, review Board and committee processes, and review the Board's relationship with management. In 2004, this Board effectiveness survey was revised to include a specific assessment of each committee and each committee Chair. The director peer evaluation survey was first implemented in 2002 and provides each director with feedback from his or her peers on his or her performance. It also provides directors with suggestions for improving their effectiveness as directors and contributions to the Board. Finally, the directors complete an annual skills self-assessment, designed to assist in determining the strengths and gaps in Board skills as a whole and to enable a comprehensive and meaningful assessment of skill requirements for nominating future directors. This self-assessment also assists the Corporate Governance Committee in determining topics for continuing education.

The Board effectiveness assessment and peer evaluation are conducted confidentially and, in accordance with the TELUS Board Policy Manual, the Chair conducts separate interviews with each director to discuss the results of the director's evaluations and self-assessment, and reports the collated results to the Board. Similarly, the Chair of the Corporate Governance Committee reviews the assessments of the Chair of the Board, discusses them with the Chair of the Board and reports the collated results to the Board.
