2 GENERAL

- A. In this Tariff 'Telesat' means Telesat Canada in respect of its telecommunications undertakings within the territories served by the Company.
- B. This Tariff, pursuant to the Connecting Agreement between Telesat Canada and the members of Telecom Canada, as amended and approved under Telecom Decision CRTC 86-9 and pursuant to Telecom Decision 86-21, provides for the connection of Company-provided equipment and facilities with those of Telesat for use by Telesat in providing service or facilities to its customers. This Tariff prescribes the terms and conditions relating to such connections or use by Telesat and its customers, including the restrictions, protections and terms of compensation applicable to such connection or use.
- C. Insofar as reasonably applicable and not inconsistent with this Tariff, the Company's General Tariff CRTC 1005 and all other Company Tariffs, including any amendments thereto or replacements thereof, extend and apply to this Tariff. The Company's Terms of Service, Item 10 of the General Tariff, including any amendments thereto or replacements thereof, apply with such modifications as the circumstances require.
- D. Upon request, and subject to the conditions set out in this Tariff, the Company will provide connections to Telesat or its customers for the purpose of furnishing data service, voice service, or both on condition that the request specifies the types of connection, the name and address of the Telesat customer where required for installation or billing purposes and the proposed location and the technical requirements of the requested connection.
- E. Telesat shall be the Company's customer with regards to the connections provided under this Tariff.
- F. Telesat shall be responsible for all contacts and arrangements with its customers concerning the provision and maintenance for Telesat's services. Payment for the Company-provided connections shall be payable by either Telesat or its customer to the Company, as may be determined by Telesat, provided that, where Telesat elects to have all or any part of such payment made in the first instance by its customer to the Company, Telesat shall remain ultimately responsible for such payments.
