C. MISCELLANEOUS SERVICE CHARGES

1. Many services are covered in other sections of the Company's Tariffs, some of which carry a cross reference to Item 110 for the applicable service charge.

The cross reference to Item 110 indicates that the service charge will consist of the appropriate service charge elements.

2. Many services outlined in other sections of the Company's Tariffs carry a service charge designated by a specified amount or refer to Item 111 or Item 170. Such charges apply apart from MEP service charge elements as appropriate and are not related to the MEP service charges.

D. CONDITIONS

1. Service charges shall apply in addition to the monthly rental and any construction or other charges applicable under this tariff.
2. The charges specified preceding contemplate that the work shall be performed during the regular working hours of the Company employees. If the customer requests overtime labor or orders work to be done under conditions which necessitate unusual expense, an additional charge may be made, based on the additional costs involved.
3. A service charge applies to a transfer of contract from one customer to another with the exception that no charge shall be made for a transfer of contract which:
 - does not involve any change in the grade or class of service or in the associated directory listing, i.e. a service order is not required to accommodate the request.
 - results from the death of a customer when the contract is transferred to a person domiciled with the customer at the time of death.

D. CONDITIONS (Continued)

4. (a) When a service has been temporarily disconnected on account of default on the part of a customer in making payment of any sum due to the Company, or in complying with the general regulations of the Company which govern the service furnished, but the contract has not been terminated, a charge equal to the Office Connection (OC) charge as specified in Item 110 B. may be made for restoration of service.

(b) Partial temporary disconnection of service is the restriction of access to the toll network when an individual line business or residence customer defaults on payment of his telephone account, (Item 10, Article 22). Partial temporary disconnection may be applied at the Company's discretion, to customers served from Electronic Stored Program Control (ESPC) equipped central offices as an alternative to temporary disconnection. Restoral of full service will be effected when payment in full is received or when a reasonable deferred payment agreement is made with the customer. There is no service charge for restoral of residential service. A restoral charge equal to the (OC) charge as specified in Item 110 B. will apply to business service.
5. For temporarily disconnecting, removing and replacing wires, cables, poles and other fixtures, the customer may be required to pay a service charge based on the cost of the labour and material used in such work.
6. Should it be necessary to incur any unusual expense, an extra charge may be made, based on the actual cost of the equipment or service provided.
7. There is no service charge for the activation of Suspension of Service (Item 157) on residential service lines. Service charge applies when reconnecting service, at customer request, subsequent to a discontinuance associated with Suspension of Service.
