TWL SIGNS WITH SKF AUTOMOTIVE

When world-leading Bearing Group SKF announced its decision to split into two, TWL stepped up as SKF Automotive Distributors for New Zealand's truck and trailer sector in February 2025. The move ensures operators across the country have access to the highest quality wheel-end components built for the demands of heavy transport.

"This is an exciting addition to our national chain and a natural fit for our heavy transport programme," says Dave Wright, Product Manager – Commercial Aftersales. "We have a long history with SKF and its key brands, and we're looking forward to working with SKF Automotive with a clearer focus on customer value and competitiveness."

As SKF works towards establishing the new SKF Automotive Entity in the first half of 2026, TWL is already expanding its range of SKF Wheelend Bearing Sets, CR Scotseals, Hubcaps and more to keep New Zealand's fleets running at their best.

Scotseal Innovation Since 1960s

Founded back in 1878, Chicago Rawhide (CR) introduced the original CR Classic Scotseal range in the 1960s. Built for oil and grease applications, the CR Classic quickly became the standard. These unitised cassette seals featured a multi-lip design, integrated wear sleeves, and Wave Lip technology, making them a reliable fit for most imperial heavy-duty wheel end hub applications – many of which are still on the road today.

In 1990, CR was acquired by SKF, one of the world's leading bearing and seal manufacturers. Not long after, the hand-fit Scotseal Plus-XL range was launched, giving operators an easier fit with proven durability. For three decades Plus-XL set the benchmark.

Today, that legacy continues with Scotseal X-Treme – SKF's latest generation of hand-fit hub seals. Designed for longer life and tougher conditions, Scotseal X-Treme delivers improved protection against contamination, stronger sealing, and better performance under higher temperatures.
