

Beyond the Baseline: Curative Primary Care

Transitioning to a new health plan often involves waiting times and adjustments. With Curative Primary Care, your health and well-being come first. Your Curative PCP will continue the conversations started during your Baseline Visit and work with you to create a health plan tailored to your personal goals. What is a primary care provider (PCP)?

A PCP is the health practitioner you'll see for most non-emergency health situations. They are your first point of contact when you need care or advice. Since they'll be most familiar with your health background, it's important to find a provider that meets your needs.
