

New Medicines for Patients

As of March 2021

*Emergency Use Authorization for bamlanivimab was granted by the U.S. FDA on November 9, 2020. A separate Emergency Use Authorization for bamlanivimab and etesevimab administered together was granted by the U.S. FDA on February 9, 2021. Neither product is approved. Bamlanivimab as well as bamlanivimab and etesevimab administered together are authorized only for the duration of the declaration that circumstances exist justifying the authorization of the emergency use, unless the authorization is terminated or revoked sooner.