Co-Founder and CEO of Albert

Yinon Ravid is the Co-Founder and CEO of Albert, the personal financial assistant trusted by more than 10 million people. Yinon co-founded the company in 2015 with Andrzej Baraniak on the belief that everyday Americans deserve better than what traditional financial institutions offer — an app that manages the hard and tedious parts of money for you, and takes action on your behalf. Before Albert, Yinon founded Openfolio (acquired by Stone Ridge Asset Management in 2017), and spent six years as a high-yield bond trader at Oak Hill Advisors. He's a Columbia University graduate ('05) and is based in Los Angeles.
