Eventide Dividend Value Strategy

Objective

Seeks to provide income, income growth, and long-term capital appreciation.

About the Strategy

A diversified US equity strategy with a focus on large-cap companies, seeking to provide an average dividend yield greater than that of the Bloomberg US 3000 Index.

Benchmarks

Bloomberg US 1000 Value Index

Investors should consider the Dividend Value Strategy's investment objectives, risks, charges, and expenses carefully before investing or sending money. Investors should also carefully review a current copy of Eventide's Brochure for an additional disclosure of Eventide's investment strategies, approach, and relevant risks, as updated from time to time. For more information, please contact Eventide at 1-877-771-EVEN (3836).

The Adviser's judgment about the quality and intrinsic value of companies may prove to be incorrect. All investments involve risk. There is no guarantee that any investment will achieve its objectives, generate positive gains, or avoid losses. The Bloomberg US 1000 Value Index is a float market-cap weighted benchmark comprised of companies within the Bloomberg US 1000 Index with the highest value factor scores based on their earnings yield, valuation, dividend yield, and growth. Investors cannot directly invest in an index, and unmanaged index returns do not reflect any fees, expenses, or sales charges. The volatility of an index may be materially different than that of the Strategy, and accounts invested in the strategy should not expect to achieve the same results as a listed index. There is no guarantee that the Adviser's approach will produce the desired results. All investments involve risk, including the possible loss of principal.

Important Information

Application of Eventide’s values-based screening criteria could cause the Dividend Value Strategy to underperform similar strategies that do not have such screening criteria. This could be due to ethically acceptable companies falling out of favor with investors or failing to perform as well as companies that do not meet Eventide’s values-based screening guidelines. Investing in the Dividend Growth Strategy involves risk, including the possible loss of principal. The Strategy can invest in convertible securities, the market value of which tends to fall when prevailing interest rates rise. The value of convertible securities also tends to change whenever the market value of the underlying common or preferred stock fluctuates. The Strategy may invest in preferred stocks. Dividends on preferred stocks are generally payable at the discretion of the issuer’s board of directors and stockholders may lose money if dividends are not paid. Preferred stock prices may fall if interest rates rise or the issuer’s creditworthiness becomes impaired. The Strategy may invest in Real Estate Investment Trusts (REITS) which involves certain unique risks in addition to those risks associated with investing in the real estate industry in general. Equity REITs may be affected by changes in the value of the underlying property owned by the REITs, while mortgage REITs may be affected by the quality of any credit extended. The Strategy may invest in yieldcos, which involve risks that differ from investments in traditional operating companies, including risks related to the relationship between the yieldco and the company responsible for the formation of the yieldco (the “Yieldco Sponsor”). Yieldcos typically remain dependent on the management and administration services provided by or under the direction of the Yieldco Sponsor and on the ability of the Yieldco Sponsor to identify and present the yieldco with acquisition opportunities, which may often be assets of the Yieldco Sponsor itself. To the extent that the yieldco relies on the Yieldco Sponsor for developing new assets for potential future acquisitions, the yieldco may be dependent on the development capabilities and financial health of the Yieldco Sponsor. Yieldco Sponsors may have interests that conflict with the interests of the yieldco and may retain control of the yieldco via classes of stock held by the Yieldco Sponsor. Any event that limits the yieldco’s ability to maintain or grow its distributable cash flow would likely have a negative impact on the yieldco’s share price.

The Strategy can invest in technology companies, which present risks including the company's products becoming obsolete and entrance of competing products. The Strategy can invest in companies in the industrial sector which presents risks including risk related to debt loads, intense competition, and sensitivity to economic cycles. Risks associated with investments in foreign companies include exposure to currency fluctuations, less efficient trading markets, political instability and differing auditing and legal standards. ADRs are certificates that evidence ownership of shares of a foreign company and are alternatives to purchasing foreign securities directly in their national markets and currencies. ADRs are generally subject to the same risks as direct investment in foreign companies. The Strategy can invest in the stocks of smaller-sized and mid-sized companies, which generally have earnings and prospects that are more volatile than larger companies. These companies may experience higher failure rates than larger companies. Small- and mid-sized companies normally have a lower trading volume than larger companies, which may tend to make their market price fall more disproportionately than larger companies in response to selling pressures. Small- and mid-sized companies may also have limited markets, product lines or financial resources and may lack management experience. The Strategy can invest in large capitalization companies, which may be less able than smaller capitalization companies to adapt to changing market conditions. Large capitalization companies may be more mature and subject to more limited growth potential compared with smaller capitalization companies, and during different market cycles, the performance of large capitalization companies has trailed the overall performance of the broader securities markets. "Growth" stocks can react differently to issuer, political, market, and economic developments than the market as a whole and other types of stocks, and present unique risks.

Appendix

Investment Ideals

We seek investment opportunities that reflect these ideals:

- ✓ We believe in respecting the life and dignity of all people. This means we invest in areas that honor life, like treatments seeking to address challenging diseases. This also means we seek to avoid profiting from anything designed to harm or exploit a life, including abortion services, weaponry, and tobacco.
- ✓ We believe in preserving justice and peace. This means we look to invest in companies that are governed by strong ethics and take extra precautions when considering companies with ties to countries where we have concerns about human rights abuses.
- ✓ We believe in the importance of family and community. This means we look to serve marginalized communities and people. This also means we don't invest in harmful or addictive products or services such as violent entertainment or pornography.
- ✓ We believe in responsible management practices. This means we look to invest in companies with leadership teams that treat their employees, customers, and other stakeholders fairly. This also means we don't invest in companies with a concerning record of mistreatment, litigation, or regulatory actions.
- ✓ We believe in environmental stewardship. This means we look to invest in companies supporting the expansion to cleaner, more efficient sources of energy and companies leading their industries toward better stewardship practices. This also means we don't invest in companies with a concerning record of environmental fines or abuse.

The Strategy's ethical values screening criteria could cause it to underperform similar strategies that do not have such screening criteria. This could be due to ethically acceptable companies falling out of favor with investors or failing to perform as well as companies that do not meet the Strategy's ethical screening guidelines. The Adviser's judgement about the quality and intrinsic value of companies may prove to be incorrect. All investments involve risk. There is no guarantee that any investment will achieve its objectives, generate positive gains, or avoid losses.
