How did the Fund perform last year?

The Fund's high dividend strategy ("Strategy") outperformed its large cap value benchmark but underperformed the strong performance of the broad-based benchmark for the year ending April 30, 2026. Strong relative performance and allocation in sectors such as Technology, Industrials, Energy, and Consumer Staples was more than offset by underperformance in a few sectors including Utilities, Healthcare, Materials, and Consumer Discretionary. The high-quality, robust, and growing dividend-focus of the Strategy contributed to the performance lag during a period of strong market recovery post-Liberation Day tariff announcements. Our focus remains on robust and resilient dividend growth, strong financials, idiosyncratic risk, and the overarching theme of human flourishing.
