THE STORY

This consultancy helps their clients unlock the potential of machine learning, data engineering and analytics. They're scaling quickly, including both equity and debt funding in their strategic growth plans. With the right kinds of finance in place, they'll drive overseas expansion and take on more staff.

They're taking on big projects with major blue chip companies who pay invoices on 60-day terms. Invoice finance will enable them to kick off those projects with confidence, knowing they can easily cover their wage bill and other upfront costs.

Something worth noting about this business is that verifying their invoices is particularly straightforward. The nature of their debtors means that they all have online invoice portals. Because the business has shared login details for these portals with the MarketFinance team, verification can quickly and easily be completed online.
