How your gift powers progress

£1,800

could buy imaging software that films cells in real time, helping our scientists test promising new cancer treatments.

£7,500

could buy an incubator to keep cell samples warm so scientists can study how they would behave in the body.

15% of a £250,000 estate

could buy a high-tech tool called a gene gun, which our scientists use to learn more about cancer's weaknesses.
