

NAOMI GARDNER

Naomi Gardner joined Quorn in October 2023 as Head of R&D Food.

Prior to this, Naomi spent over 15 years in FMCG R&D roles including GSK, Suntory and Saputo across a range of different products including soft drinks, sports nutrition and dairy.

Naomi has worked across a range of different business types starting from a rapidly growing family owned B2B ingredients business. From there enjoyed the highs of being involved in a Private Equity backed Sport Nutrition Brand sale to GSK and navigating the transition from a 100 people organisation to 60,000. She then exited GSK with the sale of their well-known Lucozade & Ribena Brands to join Suntory and expand her knowledge of working cross-culturally from Japan to the USA.

Naomi holds a BSc in Biochemistry from Bath University and a PhD in Nutrition Sciences from Reading.