The background of the top section is a light cream color with a complex pattern of thin, grey, hand-drawn lines. These lines form various geometric shapes, including circles, triangles, and irregular polygons, some of which are interconnected to resemble a network or a map. There are also some small, solid green circles scattered throughout the pattern.

The bottom section of the image is a close-up photograph of bare, dark brown tree branches. The branches are thin and intricate, with many small twigs and buds visible. They are set against a blurred background of more branches and a hint of a blue sky, creating a sense of depth and texture.
